He's only a couple of hands high, so he doesn't mind a helping hand in getting about. This five-day old Smith's daughter, who is being pampered by Paul Smith, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Smith of Kelowna. The baby pony, one of the smallest equines ever born hereabouts, weighs in at about 19 pounds.

Pearson Hopes For Meeting On Report Of CBC Strife

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said today he hopes CBC President J. Alphonse Ouimet and the corporation's producers will "get together" following release Thursday of the Keats report on the Seven Days controversy.

In reply to Commons questions by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, Mr. Pearson said the report was "referred by me at once to the CBC president and the producers' association."

He indicated he has not been in contact with either side in the dispute since release of the report.

Mr. Diefenbaker had asked whether there was any sign from CBC management of "willingness to compromise on their decision in connection with the Laframboise program."

This was a reference to the CBC decision not to renew the contracts of Patrick Watson and Laurier LaPierre, co-hosts of the television program This Hour Has Seven Days.

The report by Stuart Keats, publisher of the Vancouver Sun, who took a leave of absence to

Johnson Deplores African Injustice

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, in his first major policy statement of Africa, Thursday publicly deplored racial and political injustice there. Officials said his words applied to Rhodesia, South Africa and Portugal's colonies.

Addressing more than 300 African diplomats and others at an informal White House reception, Johnson described as repugnant "the narrow and outmoded policy which in some parts of Africa permits the few to rule at the expense of the many."

Johnson expressed a willingness "to help build a modern Africa" with aid, trade and other activities.

B.C. POWER CUT HIT CALIFORNIA

LILLOOET (CP)—A helicopter crash near here killed a pilot Thursday and caused power disruptions in British Columbia, Arizona and California.

Pilot Dennis Light, 45, of Coquitlam, was believed to have drowned after his craft cut a 230,000-volt hydro power line and fell into Seton Lake, 120 miles north of Vancouver.

The helicopter, owned by Okanagan Helicopters Ltd., flew into the high-voltage line.

The crash caused a power breakdown in central B.C. and Prince George. The U.S. was affected because a huge supply of power being fed through integrated systems suddenly backed up with no place to go.

Pretoria Curbs Kennedy's Visit

PRETORIA (AP)—The South African government Wednesday banned foreign reporters from entering the country to accompany U.S. Senator Robert F. Kennedy on a four-day visit early in June. The department of information said the government will not allow the visit to be turned into a "publicity stunt" to promote Kennedy as a future presidential candidate.

Copter Force Kills 311 Reds

SAIGON (AP)—Helicopter-borne U.S. troops wiped out a battalion-size force of Viet Cong in 11 days of fighting in the central highlands of South Vietnam, the U.S. command announced today.

Units of the 1st Air Cavalry Division killed 311 Viet Cong and captured 29 during Operation Crazy Horse 200 miles northeast of Saigon, a military spokesman said.

Poisonous Ticks Travel To Coast

VANCOUVER (CP)—Poisonous wood ticks were found this week on two children living in suburban North Surrey.

The tiny insects, which attach themselves to humans and animals and feed on their blood, were found on Sharon Wiebe, 13, and Wendy Larson, 9.

The ticks' bite can paralyze a small child. The insects have been blamed for 29 deaths in B.C. since 1900.

The children were camping with their parents at Nicola Lake, 15 miles from Merritt, in the B.C. interior, during the Victoria Day weekend.

Commons Boosts Cabinet Rocket

Council Cracks On Coast Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—City council's united front against Vancouver's 1,500 striking outside workers has crumbled for the first time since the walkout started 21 days ago.

Council, meeting Thursday in committee, received a letter from the Civic Employees' Union indicating the union is ready to reopen negotiations on the wages dispute.

Aldermen voted 5-4 in support of a motion asking Mayor Bill Ratner, who was absent, to call a special council meeting today to discuss the situation.

The move was shelved on legal grounds until the next regular council session—Tuesday—but not until the split in the aldermanic ranks had been healed during a stormy hour-long debate.

Five of the aldermen indicated they want the city to seek actively a reopening of negotiations. Four others want the city to sit tight and wait for the union to come up with some basis for negotiation.

The union is seeking a pay increase of 70 cents an hour in a three-year contract on a base wage of $2.20. The city's fiscal officer was 20 1/2 cents in two years.

The strike has left Vancouver without garbage collection, parks maintenance, street cleaning, sewer and roads maintenance and other outside services.

In suburban North Vancouver, meanwhile, a strike by 100 inside and outside workers shows no sign of settlement.

The workers, members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, left their jobs Tuesday after negotiations broke down over wage demands similar to those made by the Vancouver outside workers.

Talks will start next week in a wage dispute between civic outside workers and the two cities of Alberni and Port Alberni on Vancouver Island.

Tricky Decision After July 1 As Seaway Rate Hike Roasted

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Thursday put a booster to a political rocket aimed at the cabinet.

In a rare emergency debate, three Liberals joined a near-unanimous Opposition protest against proposed increases in St. Lawrence Seaway tolls.

The issue will become the cabinet's baby by July 1, when the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority is required to specify what revisions it wants in seaway tolls. The final decision belongs to the government.

The authority has just completed public hearings in Ottawa on its proposals to levy tollage charges at the Welland Canal and to raise tolls between Montreal and Lake Ontario by 10 per cent.

Earlier in the session, Speaker Leslie A. Lacombe turned down Conservative bids for emergency discussion of farm machinery prices and CBC problems over the television program This Hour Has Seven Days.

In allowing discussion of the tolls, he acknowledged them to be a matter of "urgent national importance."

Reg. Cancellation (PC-Kinderley), who sought the debate, said the toll increase would cost western farmers 1 1/2 cents a bushel for wheat shipped through the seaway.

Ontario MPs were concerned about the effort of higher tolls on secondary industry.

Increased shipping costs would send up costs of production and the cost of living, said Opposition Leader Diefenbaker.

Canada's $350-million seaway, which tolls are intended to pay off in 40 years, was set down in the debate.

But John Turner, minister without portfolio who spoke for almost Transport Minister Poirer, said the commitment to authorize the debt is the key point.

Liberal James Macphail, through whose language the Welland Canal passed, opposed tollage charges that would start at $200 per vessel next year and work up to $500 by 1971.

Frank Howard (NDP-Sherbrooke), speaking of "virtually unanimous opposition" in the country to higher tolls, criticized the seaway authority for keeping secret surveys and studies by independent consultants on traffic development and the impact of toll increases.

Only the CPM supported higher tolls during the authority's two-day hearing, which ended Thursday a few hours before the Commons debate.

NDP Leader Douglas said the "entire concept of transportation" in Canada was involved in the debate.

First Pipeline For Solids May Be Built In B.C. Soon

VICTORIA (CP)—Commercial Transport Minister Bonner said Thursday British Columbia's first pipeline for solid materials may be in operation this fall.

Mr. Bonner said in an interview that Pacific Dominion Ltd. of Edmonton has applied to his department to build a seven-mile line near Quesnel in north-central B.C.

He could see no obstacles in the way of the application.

The four-inch pipeline would transport fossilized earth used in fertilizer manufacturing from a mine near Quesnel to Barlow Station on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway line.

Mr. Bonner said the pipeline could move up to 120 tons of the earth in solution a day.

Fossilized earth used to keep fertilizer from becoming lumpy is now imported from the United States.

Bombs Blast In Bakersfield

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Gasoline bombs set four fires Thursday night in the Bakersfield Negro district where racial trouble broke out earlier this week.

Assistant Fire Chief Robert Paddock said one bomb destroyed a $3,500 garage.

Three other fires were confined to vacant lots and part of one building.

Last Sunday night, 125 law officers quelled small groups of youths who began throwing bottles and rocks at police at the scene of a traffic accident.

One Negro youth was shot in the leg by an officer who said the youth was about to throw a bottle.

Dock Strike Talks Fail

MONTREAL (CP)—Federal mediator Judge Rene Lippe said today representatives of management and labor in the current strike of longshoremen at three Quebec ports have been unable to reach an agreement.

Judge Lippe said Labor Minister Nicholson had asked that representatives of both sides in the dispute should see him in Ottawa later today. The meeting there was scheduled for 5 p.m. EDT.

"I'm very sorry to inform you that a settlement could not be reached," Judge Lippe told reporters after a conciliation meeting in Montreal.

The Shipping Federation of Canada, representing management, had been given fresh proposals from the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) Thursday night.

The proposals had been expected by union officials to offer a hope of settlement in the strike by 4,250 longshoremen at Montreal, Trois-Rivières and Quebec City.

Shot L.A. Negro 'Was Drunk'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Leonard Deadwyler was "very drunk" at the time he was fatally shot by a police officer May 7, the doctor who performed the autopsy reported Thursday at a coroner's inquest.

Dr. Thomas Noguchi said his studies revealed that the blood of Deadwyler, a 25-year-old Negro, contained .35 per cent alcohol.

A .15 level of alcohol content is considered the level of intoxication under National Safety Council standards, he said.

Good Triumphs Over Evil, Says Indonesia's Leader

ALOR STAR, Malaysia (Reuters)—Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman met an informal, eight-man peace mission from Indonesia today and said the visit was a sign of victory of good over evil.

The mission flew to this northern Malaysian city to see the vacationing prime minister after an emotional greeting at Kuala Lumpur's international airport by high-ranking officials of the Malaysian defence and interior ministries.

After a half-hour meeting at Alor Star, Rahman said: "Nobody appreciates more than I do the significance of this visit. This is indeed a mission of peace."

The mission was to pave the way for Malaysian-Indonesian talks next week aimed at ending Indonesia's "crush Malaysia" campaign started by President Sukarno in 1963.

Earlier in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysian Foreign Minister Tun Abdul Razak confirmed the talks will open in Bangkok, Thailand, Monday.

Razak said the Indonesians were top officers of Kogam—the command "crush Malaysia."

Blind Workers Join Pickets

TORONTO (CP)—About 60 blind broom-makers walked off their jobs at the Canadian National Institute for the Blind Thursday to join 25 others on the picket lines since Wednesday.

The men, demanding a 10-cent-an-hour wage increase, say they have been offered less than half of that. Piece workers average $65 a week. Hourly-paid employees receive $48 to $52.

W. M. Mayne, CNIB personnel director, said he is in sympathy with the workers' demands, but the broom operation is heavily subsidized and the CNIB cannot afford to raise the wages. An increase might be possible in December after efficiency improvements are instituted.

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal sharing in the cost of acceptable provincial medical care insurance programs will be based on the average per capita costs of participating provinces, Health Minister MacEachen informed the Commons Friday.

Three Dead As Fire Sweeps Apartment

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Three persons were known dead and police said several others were missing today when a three-alarm fire swept a four-story apartment building. The known dead were James Garcia, 26, of Northfield, Vt.; Mrs. Nina McAllister, 56, of Burlington; and Peter McGowan, 23, of Burlington.

SANTA MARIA, NINA, PINTA MAY SAIL ON OKANAGAN

Like Columbus, Gordon Has A Dream

By KEITH DAVIS

Gordon Jennens, Kelowna, has a private dream that so far has cost him months of work and about $800,000.

He is building a fleet of ships. These are not just any ships he is building—as if it wasn't enough work to build a fleet at sea, he has visions of eventually floating replicas of Christopher Columbus' entire fleet of three ships—the Santa Maria, the Nina and the Pinta.

Some people might scoff at the idea and say it is merely a "pipe dream," never to be finished. However, for Mr. Jennens his dream is quite real and dumb with amazement.

he has worked for almost a year to bring it to reality. The way things look right now, he just might do it.

NEAR BRIDGE

The fruit of his many months of work lies within the walls of a small, medieval looking structure on the west end of Okanagan Lake Bridge. From the outside, it has the appearance of a tourist attraction of some sort that has got a bit untidy during the past months.

Inside, it has the appearance of a shipyard—exactly—built in the open small door on the east end of the structure, the scene inside is enough to strike them around—inside—here.

There are beams, girders, poles, planks and boards piled everywhere. Plywood platforms make up a three-tiered structure on which there are all sorts of geometrical drawings and numbers looking like some sort of advanced trigonometry.

Such is the confusion of scaffolding and equipment that even Mr. Jennens is aware of it.

"I know what you're thinking," he said with a smile, "and you are right—a person almost has to be a monkey to get around—inside—here."

EXPLAINS

But, for every little board, nail, drawing or number, there is a reason. As Mr. Jennens patiently explains the art of shipbuilding to people whose extent of sailing has been a Sunday cruise in a powerboat on Okanagan Lake, the pieces fall together like a giant jigsaw puzzle.

Pointing to one pile of heavy timbers, stacked about seven high and stretching more than half the way along the structure, he explained they are the ribs of the Santa Maria, that would eventually form the supports of her hull.

Many parts

Mr. Jennens explained there are 1,700 of the ribs, each of which has to be patiently carved and shaped to almost microscopic perfection from rough pieces of timber. Numbers adorn each one, and when Mr. Jennens was asked what the numbers meant, he said they were the keys to assembling the ship, but it would be too intricate to explain.

Merely looking at the complex numbers, which seemed to have no definite order, showed the system was intricate, indeed.

DRYING TIMBERS

Further along the planking and scaffolding were some exceptionally large and heavy beams, which had been patiently hewn from rough timber into long, perfecting square logs. These will make up the keel of the ship, running lengthwise along the centre of her hull.

Mr. Jennens scrambled down a ladder to the lower section of the building and pointed to several areas marked by drawings and nails, saying this would be the centre of the ship. He motioned upwards at the end of the building and said that area would be the admiral's cabin, towering two stories above the enclosure.

Now, the ribs and planking are drying for three months, in order to get all of the sap out of the wood, so the logs do not rot when they are launched in the form of the ship.

PLANE HAS AN AIR LIFT

With stabilizing parachutes trailing behind it, an army two-engine C-47 plane is carried down the Delaware River at Philadelphia after it was air-lifted from Philadelphia's support terminal for an air trip to the Army repair depot at New Cumberland, in central Pennsylvania. The air trip was used because the C-47 could not be trucked over highways because of its size. The Chinook Boeing helicopter making the haul is similar to those in use in Viet Nam.

Four Forest Industry Chiefs Agree Group Needs Shuffle

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Four of the industry's best-known forest industry men agreed Thursday the Northern Lumbermen's Association must undergo some radical changes if it is to remain strong.

Merton Lumber president R. G. Calne, Northwest Pulp and Paper president Adam Zimmerman, Port St. John Lumber vice-president Bert Gayle and H. Pearson Lumber vice-president Jack Gillespie tackled the problem facing the association in the next decade, in a panel discussion.

Mr. Calne strongly advocated a full-time, fully-qualified staff to ease the work load on volunteer directors.

With sophisticated problems to tackle and a more demanding membership, he said, it has become impossible for directors to efficiently handle NILA affairs.

He said the management team should include a manager and an assistant, a grading supervisor, promotion director, a forestry engineer and an executive with legal training to look after

Wounded Vets 'Too Depressing'

MUNDELEIN, Ill. (AP)—A party for 36 wounded Viet Nam veterans was cancelled when the manager of a downtown hotel decided the presence of the servicemen would depress other patrons.

The veterans are patients at nearby Great Lakes naval training centre and were to be entertained Thursday by Mundelein community leaders at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, but Portier Parris, a Hilton vice-president, decided not to accommodate the party.

"People come in and pay cover charges and high prices and they want relaxation and things pleasant," Parris said.

"Most of the time they resent things like this (having wounded veterans there)."

Paul Foss, mayor of Mundelein, said: "I certainly don't think it would be depressing for anybody to see a group of Viet Nam veterans come into the room."

Foss said the veterans were taken to another spot.

U.K. Caveman Forgets Time

BRISTOL, England (AP)—Britain's challenger for an underground cave endurance world record has completely lost track of time.

David Lafferty, 26, has been living alone 400 feet beneath the surface of one of Britain's deepest caves for 62 days. He is trying to break the 120-day French-held world record.

Lafferty telephoned the surface near Cheddar, Somerset, Thursday and said he thought the date was May 8.

He has no papers, no mail, radio or watch by which to calculate time. If he breaks the record he will get a £500 ($1,500) reward from Lord Waymouth, who owns the caves.

'Gut Issue' Still There Says Keate's CBC Report

OTTAWA (CP)—Stuart Keate wrapped up the This Hour Has Seven Days television dispute in 4,000 words Thursday and came to this conclusion:

What has been insistently defined as 'the gut issue' remains: the CBC president and board, at an April 27 hearing, reviewed the cases of Patrick Watson and Laurie LaPierre and confirmed a decision not to renew their Seven Days contracts.

But Mr. Keate, publisher of the Vancouver Sun who took leave of absence to study the dispute at the request of Prime Minister Pearson, in a report on the situation suggested four steps to help clear the air in the dispute between producers and CBC management.

His first recommendation was for the CBC board of directors to review the questions of "due process" and "congested reasons" behind the decision not to renew Mr. Watson and Mr. LaPierre as Seven Days hosts.

He noted the CBC has stated it will not negotiate on this matter. But he said after submitting his report that a press release the CBC issued "was not satisfactory to me" and he felt the publicly-owned corporation "owed the public a fuller explanation of its stand."

AVOID 'EXACERBATION'

He also suggested the Commons Broadcasting Committee, which has been hearing witnesses on the management-producers dispute for more than a month, "move to other considerations" to avoid "further escalation of hostilities."

His third point was that the government should produce as quickly as possible its planned white paper on broadcasting following the recommendations made last September in the Fowler committee report on broadcasting.

And he said the producers' association should suspend its threatened strike pending "a process through" the first three suggestions.

The first recommendation tossed the ball into the laps of the CBC board, which holds a regular monthly meeting today in Ottawa. Tom Koch, president of the producers' group, said any action on the part of producers would depend on what the CBC board decides.

Mr. Keate noted that a "crucial principle" which should improve future relationships between top management and the program producers had been agreed to by the CBC. Producers contended that this was a written agreement to an "unwritten agreement" reached between the two groups two years before the dispute blew up over Seven Days.

CONSULT ON CHANGES

W. E. Briggs, senior CBC vice-president, confirmed there had been an agreement that no changes in program personnel would be made without the consent of the executive program producer, Mr. Keate added.

This is spelled out specifically in the new written agreement. Mr. Keate said, adding that this is the point that producers maintained was violated when the corporation made its decision to drop the co-hosts from whatever version of Seven Days may appear next fall.

The written agreement was one of the two "positive side" points noted by Mr. Keate.

The other was the CBC announcement that it is "ready to go" on a training program that would include refresher courses and seminars for management personnel as well as funds for recruiting and training new blood. The program would start with an annual budget of $175,000, rising to $2,000,000 in five years.

JOB FOR WATSON

He also gave these other points in his assessment:

—Patrick Watson is regarded as the best English-language producer to handle the planned bilingual program.

For Electrical HEATING
Dial 762-4841
A. SIMONEAU & SON LTD.
1726 Roblin St.

Quarterly Report and can have the job if he is willing to work under "terms of reference defined by the CBC."

—Laurie LaPierre will not be back on Seven Days or its equivalent but the CBC regards him as a program personality and would be willing to consider him for a less-controversial show.

—Executive producer Douglas Letterman of Seven Days has held together his program unit but the future of the show "is uncertain and will probably be determined by the board."

CBC President J. Alton Quinnes maintains that Mr. Letterman's testimony before the Commons committee and statements made to the press constitute "an entirely new set of circumstances" and there would have to be an assessment whether "the damage done is irreparable."

Lack Of Communication Blamed

—The cases of Ross McLean, who is outlining his his- and Wilson Southam, two producers whose contracts have not been renewed, are subject to review. The CBC insisted it has no blacklist and is keeping an open mind on the future of the two men, whose talent is recognized.

Mr. Keate also placed his finger squarely on a lack of communication between top management and the television producer level as a key factor in the dispute.

LACK RAPPORT

The top management level is unshakable by men who see their way up the ladder on the basis of their knowledge of radio, he said. This left a gap in rapport.

With only 14 years of CBC television history, no man closely tied to the problems of producing TV programs had reached the top management level.

To cover this gap, he suggested immediate appointment of a vice-president with particular responsibility for this area who enjoys the confidence of both groups.

Time eventually would solve this communication problem, he added, but there is evidence enough of strife within the CBC that the board should look at the "serious personnel problem" at its earliest opportunity.

Mr. Keate offered some ob-

—He found little evidence of "genuinely satisfying censor ship" in connection with Seven Days. It was hard to understand why the CBC had rejected, without seeing it, film a Seven Days crew obtained on man-in-the-street reaction to the Queen's visit to Quebec City which sparked demonstrations and club-swinging attacks by police.

The CBC attitude seemed to be "let's not talk about the Queen while she's among us."

FINDS ENTERPRISE

Most metropolitan newspapers would have given a bonus for reporting enterprise of the type that a Seven Days crew showed in smuggling cameras into an asylum to film Fred Faurett, an Ontario farmer who later was released when it was decided he had been incarcerated improperly. "Much had been made of this incident," Mr. Keate said.

WESTBANK

Here from Calgary for the holiday weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Ingram, who visited their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ingram and Mr. and Mrs. William Weston, as well as relatives in Penticton. Accompanying them from Calgary was Mrs. Ingram's grandmother, George Weston, who was the guest of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Weston and family. Other guests at the Weston home over the holiday were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Turner of Kamloops.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hewitt and daughter Cathy, moved from Kamloops to spend the holiday weekend with Mrs. Hewitt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Droun and to visit other relatives in the district.

Miss Wendy Dobson was the guest of her grandmother, Mrs.

David Gellatly during the past weekend.

Mrs. J. P. Weiland and son Fred were guests at the home of Mrs. Weiland's mother, Mrs. David Gellatly, during the weekend, returning to their home in Kamloops Monday.

Larry Hewitt, with the B.C. Forest Service in the Prince George district was a visitor in Westbank during the holiday. He spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hewitt, in Kelowna.

Here visiting family and friends during the weekend, and attending the Bowering-Macdonald wedding Saturday, were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bjornson and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Uthrich, from Quenell, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bjornson, Kamloops and Mr. and Mrs. Dale MacDonald, of Princeton, as well as many other visitors from Valley points.

Designation Of Aid Areas Termed Unfair In Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Criteria for establishing designated areas eligible for federal aid to attract new industry were attacked as unrealistic and unfair in the Commons.

Use of National Employment Service figures for unemployment and income per family discriminates against some regions, said Warner Jorgenson (PC—Provencher). Max Saitman (NDP—Watkins) said industries are being lured to areas where they didn't belong.

Both were speaking during consideration of the industry department's 1966-67 estimates. Earlier, the Commons approved the post office estimates. Industry Minister Drury ran out of time Friday in his attempt to get his estimates through the House and may have to wait a while. When the House resumes Tuesday after the Commonwealth Day holiday, it will shift to second reading of the bill setting up new government departments under the reorganization promised last winter by Prime Minister Pearson.

Mr. Jorgenson said while family incomes in his riding are less than in some designated areas, the Pembina Valley region could not be designated because it was lumped in with Winnipeg in national employment service surveys. This brought the average up but did nothing for the valley.

He suggested the government should determine designated areas on the basis of census regions drawing the line between cities and surrounding regions. As it was, adjacent communities in different survey areas were discriminated against when they sought new industry to bolster their economy.

Mr. Saitman called the area development program a "cruel hoax" that often tried to lure industries into places where they don't belong. The economic potential of a region and its ability to support long-term industries were not taken into account.

Results of the program were becoming freakish, said Robert McCleave (PC—Haltall). The bustling city of Montreal was a designated area, but Halifax, Saint John, N.S., and Fredericton were not.

Thomas M. Bell (PC—Saint John—Albert) said the entire Maritime region should be designated especially the cities that are the only hope of leading the area into a new era of economic growth.

BRIEF 'ERLUKE'
BURNABY (CP) — Two prisoners who escaped Wednesday from Oakalla Prison were recaptured within 40 minutes. Police said Raymond P. Sweeney, 22, and David John Bird, 17, fled from a prison workshop, but were caught a half-mile north of the jail.

Funeral services were held Saturday for Frank Allen Price, 78, of 870 Bernard Ave. Mr. Price died May 10 in Kelowna General Hospital. He was born in Wales in 1888 and came to Canada with his family in 1905. The Price family farmed near Nanton, Alta. In 1919, Mr. and Mrs. Price were married in Kelowna. They returned to live in the Okanagan in 1949. Rev. A. C. Hamill officiated at the funeral service held in Day's Chapel of Remembrance. Burial was in the Garden of Devotion in Lakeview Memorial Park. Mr. Price is survived by his wife Frances and two sisters, Miss E. M. Price, of Edmonton and Mrs. Hal (Daisy) Jones of Vancouver. Many nephews and nieces also survive. Pallbearers were Arthur Arnold, Ken Harding, Terry Harding, Cecil and Tom Duggan and Fred Duggan. Day's Funeral Service was in charge of arrangements.

Let's Ring Down Curtain On Ioanna Affairs, Says U.K.

LONDON (AP)—Britain today offered to ring down the curtain on the saga of Ioanna V which vainly sought to deliver ransom for Rhodesia's rebel regime. A foreign office spokesman said the British government has decided to stop the Ioanna V from being used as a platform for the Rhodesian rebel regime. Seaway Men May Walk Out

OTTAWA (CP)—A spokesman for the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) said today the union will urge its 1,200 seaway workers to reject a federal conciliation board report and go on strike.

It recommends an immediate seven per cent wage increase and a further seven per cent next year in a two-year contract. The union demanded a 35-per cent boost to bring Canadian seaway wages up to those paid on the United States side of the waterway.

"Our local chairmen are making arrangements now to submit the board's recommendations to the members," the CLC spokesman said. "The negotiating committee has recommended that it be turned down and if two-thirds of the members agree a strike will be called." A mid-June strike date was likely.

Diabetic Group Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the North Okanagan Diabetic Association was held in the Community Health Centre in Vernon recently.

Several new members attended from Kelowna and district. The provincial diabetic camp for children, which is held in Oyma in August was discussed. Following the business items, films were shown on previous years' camps, which clearly showed that diabetic children can and do lead a normal life in spite of their limitations.

The adult supervision and provision of medical facilities was also in evidence during the film. Mrs. Avenarius from Oyma discussed the preparation of diabetic jams and jellies. It was decided to postpone meetings for the summer to be resumed on Sept. 27.

A lunch concluded the meeting. For any further information contact Mrs. J. W. Bootle.

Greek Strikers Risking Jail

ATHENS (Reuters) — Some 2,000 Greek rail workers risked prison terms and went on 48-hour strike today, paralysing the railways. The railwaymen, who are demanding more pay, defied a royal decree ordering their mobilization which was issued Monday night.

The strikers' main demand is for travelling expenses to be increased from 25-30 drachmas (about 84-98 cents) a day to 50 drachmas ($1.68) and to be included in the salary on which their pension is calculated.

Double-Ring Ceremony Unites Valley Families

WESTBANK — White candles in silver candelabra, and white and red roses graced the altar of St. George's Anglican Church in Westbank, Saturday for the 1 p.m. ceremony which united in marriage Miss Jeanette Alice MacDonald and Douglas Gordon Bowering, both of Westbank. Rev. Norman Tansar performed the double-ring ceremony for the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Grant MacDonald of Westbank, and the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Herbert Bowering, of Kamloops.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a floor-length sheath of white tulle de soie from the shoulders of which was draped a floor-length train, while the simple lines of the dress were enhanced by a rounded neckline and half-point sleeves.

Her floor-length veil of white organza and lace with its long train, was held by a wedding ring band and she carried a bouquet of Capri roses and Stephanotis, laced with white and silver net. For "something blue" the bride wore a blue garter.

The red and white theme of the bridal banquet, which complemented the bride's brunette coloring, was repeated in the dresses and bouquets of her attendants. Maid of honor, Miss Gena Youngberg, of Kelowna, and bridesmaids, Miss Lori Blum, of Merritt, and Miss Sandi Tansar, of Calgary, were gowned in identical floor-length sheaths in red tulle de soie, fashioned with rounded necklines and short sleeves, with which they wore long white gloves and red shoes.

Matching wedding bands and veils in red tulle de soie fastened their hair, and they carried white cascades of feathered mums and tulle.

HEART-SHAPED Little Karen Penton, of Beauport, Man., at her wedding, Saturday, was radiant in a long, white tulle sheath with puffed sleeves and a gathered skirt, and she carried a bouquet of Capri roses and Stephanotis. Ring-bearer, Master Stewart Rees, another cousin of the bride, wore the rings on a heart-shaped cushion of white tulle de soie, late-trimmed. A special guest was the bride's uncle, of Westbank, and the groom's brother, Lawrence Kennedy, also of Westbank, and Elwood Pesket, of Kamloops.

Playing the wedding music was Mrs. Philip Wakefield, of Westbank and during the signing of the register the congregation joined in singing "Lead Us Heavenly Father Lead Us."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. MacDonald chose a two-piece tulle sheath with white and silver threads, pink shoes and hat, and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Bowering was attired in a two-piece suit in yellow, white shoes and yellow hat, and a corsage of Capri roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Westbank Community Hall, where the principal guests were seated. The bride's table was decorated with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with two doves, holding miniature wedding rings. Flanking the cake were tall wedding tapers in silver scones and cutglass vases of red carnations.

Millon Rees was master of ceremonies, and the bride's godfather, Joe Ulrich of Quesnel, as toastmaster, proposed the toast to the bride, while Dennis Kennedy, toastmaster, toasted the bride.

Servants were four cousins of the bride, Terry Rees, Debby Beet, Glenys MacDonald and Kelly Kennedy and two of the groom's brothers, Neil and Robert Bowering.

During the evening guests enjoyed dancing to the strains of John Dechner's orchestra, and before leaving the hall the bride tossed a rose from her bouquet, which was caught by

WCTU Fights On To Beat Demon

TORONTO (CP) — The Women's Christian Temperance Union has won a few battles but lost the war in almost a century of fighting against the use of liquor.

But if its members seldom engage in front-line skirmishes any more, they are still a determined force on the field of combat.

The union today has all but given up its opposition to liquor outlets. It is concentrating on seeking to convince children of the harmfulness of liquor.

The movement was launched in southern Ontario communities and counted its early victories in terms of the number of saloons closed or licenses cancelled. Now it is a strong force at young children.

In theory, the WCTU has a network of groups to which an individual can belong from the cradle to the grave. Mothers pledge to teach their babies temperance while enrolling them as Little White Ribboners.

A pledge of abstinence is made by the children themselves in the Loyal Temperance Legion and renewed when they become members of the Young Temperance Council.

Membership has fallen sharply since it was 60 years ago. In 1925 Ontario's membership alone was 12,300. Now there are an estimated 1,600 members in all Canada.

HARD TO REFUSE Modern trends make it difficult for young people to say no, liquor, says Mrs. A. D. Keith, national president of the organization.

"They want to be popular and do the popular thing. But members of the organization still practice what they preach: total abstinence."

During its career, the WCTU has opposed bingos, sweepstakes, theatre-going on Sundays, evening hours for liquor stores, liquor licenses at airports, chairs in bars, Sunday sports, Sunday ski trails, beverage rooms for women, liquor in the United Nations, violence on television, obscene literature and the use of the word cocktail instead of fruit salad by catering companies.

A Winnipeg group opposed the sale of popcorn in beer parlors because it is a thirst producer. A Toronto group condemned a plan to catch the city's pigeons by feeding them whisky-soaked corn.

But Mrs. Keith says: "We do not normally oppose liquor licenses any more."

However, the Winnipeg local recently went before the Manitoba liquor commission to protest a liquor outlet in a national park and a temperance group won a campaign to keep a West Toronto area dry.

DEMAND FRANCHISE The WCTU has always been a service organization. It was one of the major movements demanding the franchise for women. It started kitchen gardens for the poor and pushed for home economics courses in public schools. It has pressed for women on school boards, operated a home for unwed mothers in British Columbia, helped staff a school for retarded children in Manitoba and maintained a low-rent residence in Toronto for girls.

Its members still perform volunteer work, visit women in prison and fill dirty bags for seamen. But they don't put any cigarettes in.

Mrs. I. G. Perigo, 81, a former president of the organization, says she believes the Second World War contributed to its decline.

Other reasons given are that women don't feel so strongly against liquor, partly because the churches now take a drink-in-moderation stand. Some see the WCTU's refusal to moderate its stand on total abstinence as another reason.

But Mrs. Keith says: "The WCTU may change its approach from time to time. But it will always be a movement of abstainers. On that we will never change."

AROUND TOWN Mr. and Mrs. George Whitaker in the Beigo District, have two guests from Owen Sound, Ont., Mrs. Ross Jackson and Mrs. Murray Gibbons. The women are here to attend the Jacksons' Lawrence wedding in Kelowna, Saturday.

Mrs. T. P. Hume, 2042 Doryan Place, has her granddaughter Susan Atkins of Victoria staying with her. Miss Atkins is a dental assistant and will be working in Kelowna for Dr. M. Lewis, Pandory St.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Carter entertained several guests during the weekend on the occasion of their daughter's wedding. Visiting were the Carter's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Al Miller of Vancouver. Mrs. Carter's brother, Nick Schreiner of Regina and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ayott of Battleford, Sask. All are relatives of the bride, who became Mrs. Tommy Grant in a weekend wedding.

RUTLAND HAPPENINGS

Miscellaneous Shower Honors Gail Lindroth

RUTLAND — Miss Gail Lindroth was honored with a miscellaneous shower on Wednesday evening last, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Back, with Miss Dorothy Back, the bride-to-be's maid-of-honor, and Miss Regina Fiegl, the prospective bridesmaid, as co-hostesses.

The affair was largely attended by young friends of Miss Lindroth. During the evening they compiled an imaginary life history of the guest of honor.

Mod Capital Sends Skirts

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bad Boy Skirts, intended for teenage girls despite their name, have arrived here.

Made of latex fur, suede or leather, the skirts reach about half-way down the thigh. They're an import from London, the mod capital, and are worn with short underskirts.

Diana Richards, fashion editor for the Vancouver Sun, says this of them:

"At first sight, the girls in these tiny skirts remind me of little European boys decked out in their Sunday-best leotards."

"One thing's for sure, they'll wear well. But knowing these kids, they'll be after something new before their styles have had half a chance to wear out."

Miss Richards finds a contradiction in current fashion directives. Noting that one London designer has said all stockings must be replaced by all-in-one stocking tights, she says:

"On the one hand propriety is thrown to the winds, on the other hand it is recklessly protected."

LASTS FOR EVER Water is ageless and is one of the few things in nature that can be used over and over again.

Mrs. I. G. Perigo, 81, a former president of the organization, says she believes the Second World War contributed to its decline.

honor by cutting out pictures and pasting them in a scrapbook. Mrs. Back made a beautifully decorated cake, which was presented to Miss Lindroth, who was also the recipient of many other beautiful and useful gifts. At the close of the evening refreshments were served by Miss Back and her co-hostesses.

Mrs. and Mrs. Roy T. Tansar and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Teras attended the Lions International Multiple District 19 forty-fifth annual convention, held at the Hotel Vancouver May 25 to 26. They attended as representatives of the Rutland Lions Club and Lions Ladies.

Americans Stretch Budget With New Living Cost Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans are stretching the already stretched family budget even tighter with a sharp new rise in living costs. At the same time, millions of breadwinners are bringing home smaller pay checks.

Latest government reports show living costs in the U.S. climbed faster for this time of year than in any similar period since the Korean war, while manufacturing cutbacks slowed the average pay of some 11,000 factory workers.

The labor department said prices for food, clothing, housing, transportation, medical care, recreation, and other living costs went up four-tenths of one percent in April, the third straight substantial rise in the monthly consumer price index.

The price index, at 112.5, showed it took $11.25 to buy items that cost $10 in the 1957-58 period on which the figure is based.

Since January, the labor department reports living costs have gone up 1.6 percent, the largest increase for that period since 1951. It was matched only once before in any three-month period, in 1955.

Higher costs for consumer services—including medicine, taxes, mortgage interest rates, auto insurance, barbers, baby clothes and beauty shops—were largely to blame for the April increase.

Food prices, frequently the major factor in the last year of steadily climbing living costs, nearly leveled off with an increase of only one-tenth of one percent, the smallest since last fall.

A drop in manufacturing orders, industrial production, retail sales and other major economic movements, caused a drop in factory earnings despite record average hourly wages of $2.80.

The average factory worker with three dependents brought home $88.34 a week in April after taxes, a drop of 19 cents because of shorter hours.

This pay check figure dropped 45 cents in purchasing power when the price rises were figured in.

The rise in living costs nicked the nearly half a cent from the purchasing power of the dollar, bringing it down to 88.3 cents in terms of 1957-58 value.

BIDDING QUIZ

There are some sequences of bidding which for practical purposes, are regarded as impossible—that is, you cannot have a hand that fits the bid or bids you've made. In each of the following cases, specify whether the last bid by South is possible or impossible.

1. South West	North East
1 NT	Pass
2. North East	South West
1 NT	Pass
3. North East	South West
1 NT	Pass
4. South West	North East
1 NT	Pass
5. South West	North East
1 NT	Pass

1. Possible. The general rule is that if the responder to an opening bid names a new suit, that bid is forcing and the opener cannot pass. One outstanding exception to this rule is that the opener need not bid again if he has already limited his hand by rebidding one no-trump over the first response. Two clubs is therefore not forcing, and South may pass.

2. Impossible. The redouble announces 10 or more points, and it is therefore impossible for South to sell out for one spade, since his side probably has a minimum of 24 points out of the 40 in the deck. North may have an excellent hand, perhaps as weak as 11 points, and he every right to expect the bidding to continue.

3. Impossible. North is probing for a game, possibly a slam, and cannot suddenly be left high and dry. The least that South can do, even with a poor hand, is bid three hearts. Three diamonds is 100% forcing.

4. Possible. If South has only 16 points, he is free to pass. North probably has 15 or 16 points and is asking for a slam, saying that South has top values for his notrump opening. The raise to four notrump has nothing to do with Blackwood.

5. Impossible. South has 16, 17 or 18 points and has already represented them by his opening notrump bid. When North announces weakness by passing two diamonds, for example, with Spades 5, Hearts J73, Diamonds J9542, Clubs 94—South cannot have a correct three notrump bid. Either his opening bid was wrong or his rebid is wrong. Together, the two bids are irreconcilable.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Saturday promises to be a most enjoyable day. Early hours will be auspicious for launching long-range projects, successfully concluding business negotiations and generally advancing material interests. Late P.M. favors travel, outdoor activities and social functions.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, the coming year should provide some excellent opportunities for financial gain and job advancement. As a Gemini, you are endowed with a lot of ingenuity, imagination and originality. Harnessing these traits, you should go far. For instance: As of three weeks ago, you entered a highly auspicious five-month cycle where both monetary and career interests are concerned, and this period should more than compensate for the last two years, when your material interests have been somewhat on the slow side. On the fiscal score, while the entire five months will be excellent, your outstanding months will be July, August and September. Next good period for increasing assets: From February 1 to April 15, 1957. Despite fine stellar influences, however, do not speculate during August, and do avoid extravagance during the latter part of December.

Where career matters are concerned, you should show continual progress until the end of September—paralleling your financial advancement. As matter of fact, you should be seeing progress right now, continuing until June 10. Next good periods for advancement: Early August, late October, late November, next February and March. Incidentally, September should bring you some unexpected and gratifying recognition for work done over many years, and which you have thought unappreciated. Just one admonition: In late July, don't go overboard in making suggestions which further consideration could prove impractical.

Domestic concerns should go well for most of the year (especially between mid-August and mid-October), but make no drastic changes in your home environment in mid-June. Neither romance nor travel will play a great part in your life during the next 12 months, but there could be some interesting developments in sentimental affairs in late November, in April and next May. And, where travel's concerned, only short trips are indicated—notably in September, next January and May. Social activities should be stimulating—especially in June, late September, early October, late November, and during the period between early December and the 10th of February.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a fine mind, lofty ambitions and unusual versatility in the field of literature.

FORMER football coach Fritz Crisler—one of the true gridiron greats—tells a story of one husky fullback on his stupidity to hitherto unreached heights. In exasperation, one afternoon Crisler held up a football and growled, "Forget that diagram I just drew, Butch. Let's go back to basics. Now what I'm showing you here is a FOOTBALL." "Wait a minute, Coach," begged the fullback. "Not so fast!"

A wealthy steel fabricator spent the better part of two years writing an autobiographical letter, but got only a publisher's carefully worded letter of rejection for his pains. However, his efforts were not a total loss.

He wrote to the publisher, "For two years I've been trying to find a humane way to get rid of my dixie-puss secretary. Your letter of rejection was a tenderly phrased, so eloquent, so heart-breaking that all I had to do was enclose a copy in her last pay envelope. Not only is she vanished from the scene—she thanked me, with tears in her eyes, for firing her."

SPORTS SPOTLIGHT

By DON HOLLAND

With the 1986 Kelowna and District Football League well into its schedule, it's about time we took a look at some of the teams and made a few predictions.

Malcolm Rutland Rovers are presently the front-runners in the league and with some breaks could win the league title. Although they didn't display it in their last game with the Royals, the Rovers have one of the better defenses in the league. Don Schneider is the anchor man and holds down the shortstop position. At times Schneider makes the big plays needed to keep the Rovers in the thick of things. To date, Danny Lamb's 1986 season with the Rovers has been the case early in the 1986 season.

The rest of the infield hasn't been spectacular in their play but they have been consistent and last time I checked, consistency was still winning ball games.

The Rovers outfield has yet to prove itself. Don Volk and Joe Ueyama have been playing good ball in right and center respectively but the Rovers need a good man to round out the three outs.

Arnie Roth seems to be the only pitcher the Rovers can rely on to win any particular ball game. Roth has been helping himself with some timely hits and if his arm holds out, the Rovers will win many games.

The real reason for the Rovers' depth. They have an outstanding pitcher backing up Roth and their pinch hitting hasn't been good during their first eight games. A second place finish for the Rovers and possibly a first place finish if they don't run into injuries.

Willow's Run Wilbrows have the horses to walk away with the league. Whether they will or not is something we'll just have to wait and see.

The Wilbrows have five up-and-coming infielders they can call upon for most games. Ian Smith at first base has improved steadily since the first game of the year. With Eugene Knorr and Doug Marshall at second and short, the Wilbrows have the best double-play combination in the league. Joe Weller has been hitting down their base for most of the year, but with Dave Armstrong out with a broken finger, Weller has been moved behind the plate.

Wayne North, Jack Howard and Dennis Weminger give the Wilbrows solid representation in the outfield. But the Wilbrows' fortunes seem to lie with the right arm of Wally Schen. Schen is still standing most of the batters in the league on their ears and will continue to do so until his arm falls off. Behind Schen, the Wilbrows have Larry Yeast and Ken Moha.

The last spot in the league will be hotly contested between the Carlings and the Royals. The Carlings started the year on the right foot blasting the Royals 17-0 and it looked as though last year's dormants might have a solid team. But alas, about the Carlings are beginning to take on the color of the 1985 team. The Carls have been making many mental errors and before they can hope to fight for the title they are going to have to think sharper.

Personnel-wise the Carlings aren't in bad shape. Cal Bentley, Al Benne, Ted Vey, Norbert Kordt and Jim Shesdell give the Carls a right infield. Jack Loner, Cliff Loring and Ed Schabert have a good job in the outfield and all three have proven to be the best Carling batters.

Behind the plate the Carlings have the league's best catcher in Boris Kabanoff. Nuff said. On the mound's best pitcher is Don Schmidt and Don Volk hold court. With all the seemingly good material maybe the Carls will start playing heads up ball. For Don Schmidt's sake I hope so.

Fielding seems to be the biggest problem facing the Royals. In the four games I have seen the Royals play they have committed 27 errors. Ridiculous.

Potentially the Royals are a good ball club with just a few glaring weak spots. Manager Alie Horning must teach his infield to hold onto the ball. With Ted Seward, John Strong, Ed Schen and Richard Bulah, the ability is there, it just has to be brought out.

In the outfield the Royals have Tom Haminski, Jack Usher, Bus Jones and Greg Murray. Not an outstanding outfield but they can get the job done.

Except for the Wilbrows, the Royals pitching staff is probably the best in the league with Gib Louth, John Bentley and Wayne Horning pitching and Joe Fisher catching the Royals are strong down the middle.

So, as I see it, we have:

1. Wilbrows
2. Rovers
3. Royals
4. Carlings

CAHA-NHL Bury Grievances For Friendly Get Together

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the National Hockey League, at odds over the current pro-amateur agreement, put their differences aside Thursday to enjoy two social engagements.

President Clarence Campbell of the NHL tendered a reception for the CAHA delegates attending their week-long annual meeting, while the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association held a jubilee dinner in their honor with Campbell a head-of-table guest.

Fred Page of Vancouver, CAHA first vice-president, said his organization and the NHL "are all part of a hockey family, and even in your own family you have differences."

Page, expected to be named today to succeed president Lionel Fleury of Quebec City, said the CAHA does not expect the NHL "to offer a peace pact or do they expect us to offer them one."

"We hope to all down with the NHL and discuss our differences," he was referring to a proposal by the CAHA that amendments to the pro-amateur agreement be forwarded to the NHL along with a request for a meeting to discuss the differences within 60 days.

WANTED FACT ENDED

Last year, at its annual meeting in Victoria, the CAHA voted to terminate the 10-year agreement which has been in force since 1958. However, the contract contains a clause whereby two years' notice of termination must be given by either side and the NHL decided to hold the CAHA to the terms. The contract now is scheduled to end in June 1987.

Both the CAHA and the host branch—the CAHA—used the dinner to honor past presidents. Art Potter of Edmonton and W. B. (Baldy) George of Kempenfelt, Ont., were the CAHA award winners from the West and East. Both were cited for "long and meritorious service."

Henri Crochetiere of Sherbrooke, CAHA president, named Martin Conway, Bob Label, Asarie, Choquette and Jimmie De Janne, of Montreal and Clyde McCarthy of Trois-Rivieres, as recipients of the Quebec honors.

Age Limit Changes Passed

At a plenary session Thursday the CAHA approved a motion from its minor hockey committee that will raise limits by five months in all player categories ranging from juvenile down to the peewee level.

This was accomplished by changing the registration date for all categories to Dec. 31 instead of May 31.

AGE LIMIT CHANGES

On Tuesday it approved raising the junior age limit by the same degree and ruled that any player who reached his 21st birthday on or before Dec. 31 of any playing year will be eligible to play a complete season as a junior.

The age changes, which all become effective for the 1987-88 season, allow juveniles to be under 16, mid-levels under 17, bantams under 18 and teenagers under 19 years of age as of Dec. 31 (instead of May 31).

The junior committee also moved to strengthen control of teams below the junior level when it resolved to take from the meeting to reduce participation for each team to no more than one player in any national matches at home or overseas.

They ruled that effective Sept. 15, 1986, no minor team will be allowed to play outside Canada without the specific permission of the CAHA.

Gordon Jukes, CAHA secretary-manager, reported that the organization has more requests from foreign clubs wanting to tour Canada than it can probably handle.

RUSKINS TO TOUR

Jukes said Russia's No. 2 team, the Moscow All-Stars, will likely tour Canada, with other visiting teams coming from East and West Germany and perhaps Poland and Austria.

He said Japan is interested in sending a hockey team to the 1988 Olympics and will likely attend the world hockey championships in Vienna March 18-28, 1987.

The Japanese expressed interest in playing exhibition matches in Canada on route to Austria.

The general session voted to hold next year's annual meeting, which will run from May 22-26, in Saskatoon. It also accepted the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union as an affiliate.

TWO BIG HIRINGS HELP

Labatts Join Winners

Four runs in the first inning saved the Kelowna Labatts in their first win of the 1986 season when they defeated the Kamloops Islanders 6-3 at Ellis Stadium, Thursday night.

Wayne Leonard put the Labatts ahead in the first when he smashed a three-run home run over the right field wall off Kamloops' starter Stan Kato. Jack Burton started the Kelowna rally in the first when he singled to first and went to second on an error by Ted Anderson. Burton scored when Gerry Robertson singled to right. With Al Davy and Gerry Robertson at second and third, Leonard assumed the role of hero with his home run.

Don Hincine, the Labatts pitcher, had control problems in the second inning but it wasn't until the third that Labatts bunched three hits to count two runs. Dale Cassel started the Labatts uprising with a sharp single to centerfield. A passed ball, a sacrifice and a throwing error by Al Davy allowed Cassel to score. Ted Anderson later scored on a single.

Kelowna again found the range in the third inning when they scored four more runs to up the score to 6-2.

In all, nine Kelowna batters came to bat in the third inning. Gerry Robertson led off and reached first on an error by Leonard's first-sacker, Dave Murphy. Wayne Leonard advanced Robertson to second with a single. Great Howard then took over and smacked a short into centerfield, scoring Robertson and Leonard. Howard advanced to second when Nick Bulach singled to right. Both men moved up a base when Don Hodine singled to left. With three men on base, Richard Bulach lined a double into the right field corner scoring Nick Bulach and Howard. Don Hodine was out attempting to score. A change of pitchers,

65 Shooters Compete At Penticton

The B.C. Island Rifle Association held its annual meet in the Penticton range recently with an entry of 65 members, nearly half of this number coming from Coast points. There was a strong representation from the BCSEA School at Chilliwack. Shooting conditions were favorable but difficult during the windy first day, with more stable conditions on the second day.

The top Grand Aggregate score for the two days was made by George Farquharson of Kamloops with 262 points of 300, and he took the Provincial Government Cup. Second and third places were taken by Lightbourn of Mission with 260, and by Dave Vancouver, also with 260. The Grand Aggregate among types was won by Youngie of Chilliwack with a score of 267. The All-Comers' Aggregate for the first day's shoot was won by Morse of Victoria with 141 ex 150. Farquharson with 141 ex 150, and Lightbourn third with 138. Symbols of Penticton won the High Type for the All-Comers with 131 ex 150.

Individual ranges were won by Westing. Queens' Prize-winner of New Westminster with 49 ex 50 for 200 yards. Westing also took the 200 yards cup with 48 ex 50. Lightbourn took the 600 yards cup for the first day with 48 ex 50. On the second day with a repeat at 200 yards, McKerracher of McKerracher took the cup with 48 ex 50, winning a tie with four others, which also included Westing.

The 600 yards range on the second day was won by Palmer of Enderby with 49 ex 50. Lightbourn tied with McKerracher on the 600 yards range, both with 48 ex 50. Lightbourn winning the tie shoot.

On the Outstand Scores Match run concurrently with the main shoot, Westing was a top winner on the first day with 100 points ex 100, and on the second day Lightbourn had top place with a similar score. A feature of this particular competition is that only the top notch competitors feel like entering and yet they do not compete with each other because separate prizes are provided for separate scores.

Kinsmen Rally To Beat Paige

Kinsmen came from behind to defeat Bruce Paige 10-5, in Little League action Thursday. Trailing 5-0 after two innings, the Kinsmen scored four runs in the fourth inning, two in the fifth and four more in the sixth inning to wrap up their victory.

Gary Stoubenburg was the winning pitcher and struck out seven batters in picking up the win. Leading the Kinsmen batters were John Polvey, Neil Munro and John Pivniuk who each had two hits in three trips to the plate.

Collin Emale slammed a three-run home run for the losers.

Banquet Ends Shippers Golf

The 20th annual Fruit Shippers' Golf Tournament got underway Thursday morning at the Penticton Golf and Country Club with attendance of male golfers estimated to be about 100, and lady golfers about 30 to 40.

The annual event is sponsored by the organization which serves the fruit and vegetable industry of the Interior of B.C. with packing supplies, fertilizer, chemicals and general services. There are nine trophies and numerous prizes donated by 40 service and supply organizations for competition.

The tournament lasts two days, winding up with a banquet and dance at the Peach Bowl this evening.

Only packinghouse managers and members of their permanent staff are eligible to enter the competition.

It is not anticipated that any records will be broken at this time since there are only about five employees of packinghouses in the entire Valley who play golf more than once a year.

Approximately 30 to 40 representatives from 30 and service organizations are expected to participate in the tournament.

THUNDERBOLT

MERCURY announces the first major breakthrough in outboard ignition in 50 years...

NOW—Spark plugs last seasons, now hours!

NOW—Pre-ignition, even with highly leaded fuel, is unheard-of and unheard of!

NOW—Engine efficiency and reliability are dramatically increased!

NOW—High-powered engines idle like flashing motors!

The new Thunderbolt Ignition was invented and developed by Kiekhaefer engineers. It is a complete, fully integrated system that makes use of space-age, solid-state materials and technology to produce dramatically increased spark plug life and engine performance.

Thunderbolt is so named because its spark voltage impact far surpasses that of a conventional system—and because it produces this voltage in mere millionths of a second, many times faster than a conventional coil-and-battery system does.

Thunderbolt Ignition fires the plugs so quickly that practically no energy is lost through leakage. Thus, it can fire plugs that are "fouled" by conventional ignition standards. And, because the triggering current required to discharge the capacitor (condenser) is so small, points are not nearly so subject to pitting and burning.

An integral part of the new Thunderbolt Ignition system is Mercury's new Polar-Gap spark plug. Polar-Gap is a very "cold" plug: operating temperature of the electrodes and ceramic insulator is 800 to 1000 degrees cooler than conventional plugs. Consequently, deposits from the use of leaded fuels do not reach pre-ignition temperature levels. Spark arcing area is considerably greater than that of a conventional plug—Polar-Gaps have a 360° electrode gap. This reduces the rate of electrode erosion, partially accounting for the greatly increased life of the Polar-Gap plug.

How To Stop Marichal

By MIKE BATHY
Associated Press Sports Writer

About the only thing Jose Marichal hasn't done this season is pitch two shutouts in one day.

But he's working up to it. The San Francisco right-hander pitched 14 innings Thursday before recording his eighth victory and fourth shutout in the Giants' 1-0 triumph over Philadelphia Phillies.

"I think I could have gone a few more innings," Marichal said afterwards.

He surrendered only six hits while striking out 10 and walking only one.

Leading the majors in virtually every pitching department, Marichal's hurling burdens on the astute manager who's broken down into categories:

Hits — Marichal has allowed only 51 hits in 82 innings, the equivalent of a five-hitter for every game he's pitched.

Runs — He has allowed only six earned runs in his 10 starts.

has pitched 26 consecutive scoreless innings, has allowed only one run in the last 49 and has given up two runs in only one game this season.

BASE PITCHING
Shutouts — He has pitched four shutouts, two in a row, and has lowered his earned run average to an infinitesimal 0.59.

Walks — He has permitted only eight walks — less than one a game — while striking out 66, a ratio of more than 7 to 1.

And he has beaten every club in the league at least once with the exception of Atlanta Braves.

But then he hasn't pitched against them.

Only two other games were played in the National League, Pittsburgh Pirates edging Montreal Astros 3-2 and St. Louis Cardinals defeating Chicago Cubs 3-2.

Marichal was locked in a brilliant duel with Jim Davenport until the 11th inning when the Phillies starter left for a pinch hitter after allowing only four hits.

Then, in the 16th, Jim Davenport had one to right center off Jose Marichal.

Johnny Callison tried for a backhand catch but the ball got by him for a triple.

TURN COMER UP
Hal Lanier drew a walk — and it was Marichal's turn to bat. "I didn't want Herman (manager) to put me in," Marichal said. "I was sorry for him and I was sorry for me."

Marichal, "so I went to him and told him, 'I've been hitting well but I'm not a good hitter.'"

Franks tapped Jesse Alou to pinch hit and Marichal walked home intentionally. Pinch hitter Bob Boone then lifted a fly to center field. Davenport reced home with the game's only run and Marichal had a 3-0 record.

Manny Mota's third inning homer proved decisive for the Pirates. The victory went to Steve Blass but he needed Pete Mikkelsen's relief help in the eighth inning after Jim Gentile tripped.

Mikkelsen was tagged for a run-scoring double by Lee Maye but eventually got out of a bases — loaded jam by getting Felix Mantilla to hit a double play.

Cubs' starter Dick Ellsworth took a six-hitter and a 3-0 lead provided by Byron Broom's lead-off home run in the ninth inning but the Cardinals came out on top.

Orlando Cepeda singled in the tying run, after an error by Ron Santo had let in the first, and Tim McCarver capped the uprising with a bases-loaded single.

Trade Bait, Sam Bowens Sinks Interested Party

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Manager Hank Bauer, in the market for another pitcher, placed his classified ad in Baltimore Orioles' column when he spotted the line-up.

And Sam Bowens, perhaps opening he was in the shortstop, didn't waste his chance to improve Bauer's potential custom.

Chicago White Sox of his offered four hits and drove in four runs in a one-man show in Baltimore's 1-1 victory Thursday.

It was hardly endearing to the White Sox, but certainly impressive.

The Orioles, hoping to entice an extra pitcher away from Chicago, are reportedly dangling Bowens as the bait. In two games against the White Sox he rapped six hits in nine trips.

Bowens delivered a two-run single in the fourth and then drove in two more with a double in the seventh. He had two other singles and also stole a base.

It could be the White Sox will make the deal for him just to keep him from hitting against them.

The victory moved the Orioles into a second-place tie with Detroit Tigers who suffered through a nightmarish ninth inning and lost 5-4 to American League — leading Cleveland. In the only other game, Boston Red Sox downed Minnesota Twins 1-2.

HANK BAUER
... dangles trade bait

Bowens' hot bat could be the most persuasive tactic Baltimore has in its negotiations with the White Sox. Harry Dalton, the Orioles' director of player personnel, has been dickering with Eddie Short, the White Sox general manager.

Dalton is reportedly after one of three young Chicago pitchers — Bruce Howard, Tommy John or Joel Horlen — with Bowens and possibly Jerry Adair the main lure.

Short is content with his own second baseman, Dan Adair, and is not interested in Adair. But Bowens could be an asset.

The Tigers were tied at 3-3 going into the ninth inning against Cleveland. But a walk, a fielder's choice, a wild pitch and another walk loaded the bases with none out.

Chuck Houston singled for two runs. Then with two out and the bases still loaded after Vic Darchner's single, Hank Aguirre delivered a wild throw on Fred Whitfield's dribbler and three more Cleveland runs crossed the plate. That gave the Indians five runs on just two hits.

Jim Northrip's two-run homer had tied the game for the Tigers in the eighth.

Earl Wilson won his fifth game in striking out nine Texas Rangers eighth inning home run gave Wilson a quick lead in the first inning and the Red Sox routed Jim (Mudcat) Grant with four runs in the second.

Jimmie Hall's home run and three singles deprived Wilson of his shutout in the ninth.

Indians Hurler Beats Mounties And Almost Betters Record

By TIM WEEKS
Associated Press Writer

Bill Singer had been resting 11 days because of a pulled leg muscle. He had become annoyed watching the Mounties beat his Spokane Indians every time they played baseball at Vancouver this year.

The Mounties, he reflected, were in the cellar of the Pacific Coast League's Western division, and they had touched Spokane for seven of their 15 wins.

So when he faced Vancouver Thursday night he bore down hard, and he came within a hair's breadth of tying one of the oldest records in the league — the record for strikeouts in one game. Spokane won 3-0.

Meanwhile at Hawaii a different sort of game was being played. Indianapolis was battering Hawaii 21-2.

Elsewhere, Phoenix defeated Tacoma in the 12th inning 7-3. Tulsa outlasted San Diego 4-3 and Denver and Oklahoma City battled to an 8-8 tie that will be replayed.

A game at Seattle between the Angels and Portland, who are tied for the western loop lead, was rained out.

The one-game PCL strikeout record is held by Charlie Shlds who as a Seattle pitcher set it in 1925.

Singer failed by one to tie it but he ended a losing streak for his Indians at six games as well as a Vancouver winning streak at three.

Vancouver's Paul Seitz gave the tall right-hander a rough mound battle, and but for sloppy Vancouver fielding the game might have continued far into the night. Errors let across both Spokane runs.

Indianapolis failed at Honolulu by a wider margin to set a scoring record, coming nowhere near the 31-11 score by which Vernon defeated Salt Lake City in 1923.

But Dan Deville and Jim Clinkscales combined to pitch a three-hitter for the Indians while their teammates pounded four Hawaii pitchers for 34 hits. Only one was a homer — by Bill Voss.

Voss hit the blast, a grand slammer, in the second inning and later in the same inning doubled to drive in a fifth run.

Phoenix rallied for four runs in the ninth at Tacoma to tie the score and then pushed across two in the 12th to win.

Until the ninth, Tacoma's Chuck Estrada on the mound had yielded only one run on four hits.

Phoenix scored four runs in the first three innings and then held on for its win, which completed a sweep of the three-game series at San Diego.

The game at Denver was stopped after nine innings because the Oklahoma City team had to catch a plane. The teams had agreed that no inning would begin after 10:40 p.m.

They barely got in the full nine. Denver rallied for two runs in the bottom of the ninth to create the tie.

Agar Touted At Totem Coach

SEATTLE (AP) — Roy McBride, coach and general manager of the former Spokane entry in the Western Hockey League, lunched Thursday with Gene Walby, president of the Seattle Totems.

But the meeting turned out to be strictly social.

The Totems are seeking a replacement for Keith Allen, who resigned recently after 10 years with the club.

"He's definitely not interested at this time," Walby said after his meeting with McBride.

"I hadn't figured him as being seriously interested but we've been close friends and I wanted to talk to him about the job. He has a good job now in Spokane and is in no position to leave it."

Under consideration for the Seattle job are Colin Kilburn, present head of Spokane's Western International League team, and George Agar, former coach of the Los Angeles Blades.

TOP INDIVIDUAL BOWLERS

Emil Gundrum and Morio Kaga topped the individual bowlers at the recent Five-Pm Championships at Meridian Lakes.

Gundrum had the high single with a 258 pin fall while Kaga had the high six total of 1413.

Halter's Successor Unknown Field Narrowed To 5 Applicants

TORONTO (CP) — Pat Mahoney of Calgary, head of a committee screening applicants for the job of commissioner of the Canadian Football League, refused Thursday to confirm a report that Senator Keith Dewey of Toronto is among the candidates.

Radio station CFRA in Ottawa reported Thursday that Senator Dewey and Mario Caporzi, manager of British Columbia Lions of the Western Football Conference, were interviewed by Mahoney's committee.

But Mahoney said only that a field of 80 candidates had been narrowed to five, four of them from the East, and that all were interviewed here Thursday. He refused to discuss names.

Sydney Halter of Winnipeg, CFL commissioner since 1951 when the Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Union formed one league, said he will retire Dec. 31.

SPENT $2,000 ADVERTISING
The CFL spent $2,000 advertising for a replacement, but Mahoney admitted the man may be someone in the league now.

Sydney Halter said he hasn't applied for the commissioner's job but that he heard it may be offered to him. He didn't know if he would accept.

Mahoney said the job is full time. The salary is expected to be between $25,000 and $30,000 a year.

If Senator Dewey accepts an offer, he would likely have to resign from the Senate, which pays a yearly salary of $12,000 with an additional $3,000 annually for expenses.

"If we don't find the man we want," Mahoney said, "we could draft one of our own group."

Brown To Have Second Operation

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dick Brown, Baltimore Orioles catcher who underwent brain surgery March 7, will undergo another operation today.

J. Frank Cashen, executive vice-president of the American League club, said Thursday examinations in the last two days indicated that the additional neurosurgery is necessary.

The operation will be performed at Sinai Hospital here.

Bobby Hull NHL MVP

MONTREAL (CP) — Bobby Hull, Chicago Black Hawks' brilliant left winger who rewrote the National Hockey League record book for individual achievements during the regular season, has earned another honor by being named the league's most valuable player for the second year in a row.

League headquarters announced Thursday that Hull becomes the fourth player in the 43-year history of the Hart Memorial Trophy to win it twice in succession.

The last player to win the Hart trophy twice in a row was Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, who finished third in the voting this year. Howe twice won the trophy two years straight among the record six times he was the winner—1952-53, 1953-54, 1956-57, 1957-58, 1958-59 and 1962-63. Eddie Shore of Boston Bruins and Howie Morenz of Montreal Canadiens were the other players to be awarded the trophy two years running.

B.E.G. Coach Joins In Training Of Canadian Representatives

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's track and field contingent to the British Empire Games at Kingston, Jamaica, in August can't say coach Paul Poon doesn't know what he's talking about.

Poon, 42, a former boxer from Toronto, runs right along with his athletes during daily workouts. He is able to beat some members of his Toronto Olympic Club.

"I want to run with these guys," he said. "I feel that a coach of any consequence should be there to experience what kids do. A coach knows something when he doesn't experience their indignities, pain, frustrations and anxiety."

Among the athletes Poon has developed are runners Dave Ellis, Jim Irons and Abigail Hoffman, all of Toronto.

Poon feels Canada can improve on its performance in the 1962 Empire Games in Melbourne, Australia, when 17 track and field athletes won only one medal, a gold by Toronto's Bruce Kidd in the six-mile race.

Bob Outgrows 'Goof' Title

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs, with two victories in their last 10 games, have little to boast about but Bob Guzman is working out of his "goof a game" label.

Guzman, who picked up the label around the International League last year because of his error total, played flawlessly Wednesday night and gave Toronto a 6-4 victory over Syracuse Chiefs with a two-run homer.

And the 23-year-old fielder, who has been moved from first base in an attempt to limit his miscues, also hit a sacrifice fly, drew a walk and flied out in his four trips to the plate.

Elsewhere, Richmond Braves defeated Columbus Jets 5-3, Boston Braves defeated Rochester Red Wings 1-0 and Toledo Mud Hens edged Jacksonville Suns 1-1 in a game called after the fifth inning because of rain.

THREE CHANCES GOOD
This year, between 30 and 40 athletes are expected to represent Canada in track and field and Poon feels there is a good chance for several medals, although he admits few of them will be gold.

"Shot put and discus men Dave Steen and George Poon (both of Toronto) are capable of placing high and so is pole vaulter Gerry Moore (of Trail, B.C.). Runners Abby Hoffman, Robert Poon (Toronto) and Dave Ellis are also capable of bringing back some silverware."

The real possibilities for gold medals lie with Bill Crothers in the half mile, Harry Jerome in the sprint and Nancy McCredie in the shot and discus.

Crothers is from Markham, Ont., Jerome from Vancouver and Miss McCredie is from Brampton, Ont.

Canada's Arctic Growth 'Cheaper Than Russians'

Resources Minister Arthur Laing said Thursday in Vancouver, Russia is far ahead of Canada in development of its northland but Canadian progress is more economical. "When Russian experts came to Canada last fall, no matter what they looked at they saw labor and capital at work in ways which seemed to be more economical than those which Canadian experts saw in the Russian Arctic," he said.

Judge Matthew Abrams, held the U.S. government jointly responsible with Eastern Airlines Thursday in an earlier crash that claimed 25 lives in 1962. Lee A. Abrams, the plaintiff's lawyer, said the decision in New York, opened the way for damage claims in 21 lawsuits that grew out of the crash. The government said it will appeal.

Frances Kahn, who represented Toronto native Walter Lamer at his murder trial, was suspended from attempting to prevent last year, was suspended from practicing as a witness from testifying at a Thursday from practicing as a lawyer. Miss Kahn was convicted with a verdict March 9 and later her name was listed in the newspaper.

A former mental patient apparently shot his wife and four children to death Thursday night, then turned his gun on himself, coroner Dr. Joseph Sudmick said today in Warren, Ohio. Sudmick said the man, Michael Collins, had been shot in the head, his wife, Elaine, had been shot, stabbed, and apparently bludgeoned, and the four young children each had been shot in the head and the chest.

Health Minister Eric Martin has praised a post-graduate course in medical technology which ends in Kamloops today—the only one of its kind in Canada. The health minister was speaking Thursday to 130 students from across the country, guest lecturers and Dr. Glenn M. Martin, pathologist at Kamloops General Hospital, who founded the course nine years ago.

The United Nations committee on collections today requested the release of Rhodesian nation's last leaders, Joshua Nkomo and Ndabaningi Sithole so they can testify before the committee. The committee, sitting in Dar es Salaam under the chairmanship of Sierra Leone's Gervase Fofie, decided to censure the British government for their release from the detention, ordered by the white-minority Rhodesian regime of Premier Ian Smith.

CLAY TO EGYPT
LONDON (AP)—Cassius Clay flew to Egypt Tuesday at the invitation of President Nasser and said he might be back within two months for another money-making defence of his world heavyweight title in Britain.

B.C. Forest Industry 'Flounders'

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Northern interior lumbermen were told Thursday their industry has done "a lot of floundering" in promoting its products in the United States.

J. J. Mulroney, executive vice-president of the National American Wholesale Lumber Association, was speaking at the annual meeting of the Northern Interior Lumbermen's Association. He chided operators for being stony in promotion. He guessed operators in this area are spending 10 to 25 cents per thousand board feet of lumber on promotion. The lumber, he guessed, sold for around $20 a thousand.

There is, he said, a need for "umbrella type" promotion of lumber by co-ordinated promotion of specific lumber species. A few cents more on promotion would bring many times that in increased profits.

"Profit—that is the name of the game," he said.

Asked how lumber promotion started up against competing products, he cited the case of Kaiser Aluminum, which last year spent $1,000,000 promoting selling alone.

"In our whole hall of wax, we may have spent $500,000," Adam Zimmerman, president of Northwest Pulp Ltd., said manufacturing of lumber in the northern British Columbia interior is basically unprofitable.

"I realize what I say is a sweeping generalization to which there are exceptions," said Mr. Zimmerman, whose company is building a $60,000,000 pulp mill here.

"But I think it is fair to say that if some make money, it is solely paying the lumber company owner-operator a salary and just giving him enough to re-invest in new equipment."

Mr. Zimmerman said lumber companies are "maintaining the status quo, but this is no way to grow—and grow we must."

U.S. Retaliation Forecast If Fishing Limit Extended

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pro-posed extension of Canadian fishing limits will only invite retaliation by U.S. fishermen and jeopardize negotiations with the Japanese, B.C. trawlers said today.

A statement by the Pacific Trawlers' Association said trawlers felt the Canadian government was "influenced by the net fishermen's interests" when it revoked agreement on offshore net fishing following failure of U.S.-Canadian negotiations last week in Seattle.

The two countries announced Friday they would no longer be bound by the 1957 agreement setting limits for salmon net fishing. Canada also announced she reserved the right to extend her net fishing limits, now set at the surf line along the B.C. coast.

The B.C. trawlers said they have been handicapped since 1957 by two agreements. One gives U.S. trawlers a two-week start on high seas coasts and the other reduces the fishing season by more than five months "on the pretext of rebuilding the declining chinook stocks on the Columbia River."

"Since that agreement was made, an extensive gillnet and sports fishery has developed on the chinook in the U.S. and Canadian trawlers are supposed to be conserving," the B.C. trawlers said.

The association said it had previously not published its disagreement with the Canadian government's position fearing it would weaken Canada's bargaining position with the U.S.

"It is the opinion of the trawlers that the government must realize that an effective offshore gillnet fishery will cause retaliation by the U.S.; invite other nations to engage in net fishing off our coast and jeopardize our negotiations with the Japanese on high seas net fishing."

TASHKENT GETS RELIEF
MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union is putting almost $100,000,000 worth of earthquake relief into the stricken central Asian city of Tashkent, Tass reported Thursday. The news agency disclosed its first total figures on the relief program a month after the first severe quake struck Tashkent. Two other quakes hit the city of 1,000,000 persons May 10 and May 24.

At the Seattle discussions and earlier talks in Ottawa and Washington, the U.S. rejected Canadian proposals that the Alaska net fishing limit, drawn headland to headland, be moved closer to shore. Canada said U.S. fishermen fishing around Noyes Island were setting salmon bound for the Skeena and Nass Rivers in B.C.

Does a car have to be ugly to be well engineered?

RENAULT

Heaven forbid. We think form should follow function, but not so closely that it trips on its heels. And gives you the dependability of a truck with the looks of a truck. So when we designed the Renault 10 Major, we mixed. Walnut dashboard with 4-wheel disc brakes. Streamlined bodies with 6 coats of paint and 8 rust proofings. Luxurious upholstery with fully independent suspension. And we did all the mixing here in Canada. Where the Renaults are now built. The Renault 10 Major is not ugly because we took as much care with styling as we did with engineering.

Why not drop into a Renault dealer and try out the mixture?

CAST OF KLT'S BROWNING VERSION

IT'S FOR YOU, SIR

This is the cast of the Kelowna Little Theatre entry for the finals of the B.C. Drama Association one-act one play festival, to be held at the Kelowna Community Theatre.

June 1 to 4. The play is The Browning Version, by Terence Rattigan, and directed by Una Hughes. Left to right: Crocker-Harris, played by Dr. John Bennett, Millic Crocker-

Harris (Mrs. John Bennett), Frank Hunter (John Kaye), Taplow (Philip Leach), Dr. Frohisher, (John Russell), Peter Gilbert, (John Kestough), and Mrs. Gilbert, (Cherry Shotton).

In this, the most dramatic moment in the play, Taplow, left, hands Crocker-Harris, the treasured volume, the Browning Version. The scene is considered by critics to be one of the most poignant in modern theatre.

ARTE Planning Unity Drive

MONTREAL (CP)—The Association of Radio and Television Employees of Canada (ARTEC) said today it will soon open talks aimed at creating unity among CBC employees.

Association President Ota Reichman said in a statement his union will meet with the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) to discuss the possibility of affiliation.

The 2,300-member ARTEC, largest single union of the CBC with 13 locals throughout Canada, represents the corporation's announcers and clerical staff and employees in the international service.

The Canadian Union of Public Employees represents about 100,000 employees in Crown agencies and government.

Mr. Reichman said present disunity among the broadcast unions will sap their strength in bargaining for better working conditions.

ARTEC formerly was part of the National Union of Public Service Employees that became the Canadian Union of Public Employees in 1963. At that time, ARTEC joined the Canadian Labor Congress.

Road To New York Opera Not Easy For Italian Tenor

NEW YORK (CP)—Considering Italy's reputation as a land of opera-lovers, you'd think the hardest wish of Italian parents would be to see their son grow up to be a singer.

Paul Bogani's folks didn't fit the stereotype. They discouraged him from studying singing. He finally left Italy at 18 after they continued to insist he pursue an academic career or leave home.

Today, at 28, he is a tenor with the New York State Opera. The road hasn't been easy, though, and he gives thanks to Canada for the chance to stay with his first love.

"Canada gave me the opportunity to study singing," he says. "Nowhere else can a person study and earn enough at the same time to pay for the lessons."

Bogani earned his passage to Canada by working as a waiter aboard ship. He was barely able to speak English and the only work he could find on arrival was that of a laborer.

A year passed. Then he got a job as a waiter in a Toronto nightclub. He enrolled at the University of Toronto, where he earned his bachelor of science degree in physics, and studied at the Royal Conservatory of Music.

He made his first professional appearance in Massey Hall in Toronto in 1957. Two years later he won a scholarship to study at the Covent Garden Royal Opera Company in London for a year. Then he returned to Canada.

Bogani, a Canadian citizen, has appeared with the symphony orchestra in Pittsburgh, Mass., and the Albany Symphony Orchestra as well as on various CBC radio and television programs in Toronto.

He joined the New York State Opera earlier this year and sang the role of Berce in Pagliacci when the company opened its spring season March 29. He will appear again in Pagliacci here before the company leaves for a number of engagements in Connecticut and New York state.

Scott O'Neal, conductor of the opera company, said after Bogani's March 29 performance he was "very impressed" with the young tenor's voice and his musical ability.

It was Bogani's impressive showing since joining the state opera that landed him a role in La Boheme in September. He sang the leading role of Rodolfo in La Boheme in September. He also has a series of educational TV programs lined up for the fall.

Olivia Happy About Film Banned In U.K.

PARIS (AP)—"Imagine dear, sweet Melanie banned in Britain!" said Olivia deLavielle in mock horror.

Melanie, of course, was the saccharine belle of Goss with the Wind, which Miss deLavielle played with remarkable skill in 1939.

In more recent times she appeared in Lady in a Cage, a gothic tale of such horror that the British censor refused to allow it to be shown in the United Kingdom.

"I have absolutely no regrets about doing the picture," said Olivia. "I thought it was a testament against senseless violence, and I was happy that the French critics agreed. In fact, they raved so much about it that the film was booked into the London Film Festival. It will apparently be the only time Lady in a Cage will play in England."

The actress was commenting on career and other matters over tea in her house on Rue de Denonville near the heart of Paris. She fits gracefully into the Parisian life, although she was born in Tokyo of English parents and spent most of her girlhood and acting career in the United States.

She moved to Paris nine years ago, when she married magazine editor Pierre Galliane. The marriage appears to have hit an impasse, but she continues her residence here.

"Giselle doesn't speak any English as yet, but we are going to work on that soon," said Olivia of her daughter, a bright-eyed beauty of eight years who had just arrived home from school.

Benjamin, her 16-year-old son by a previous marriage, was off at school in Normandy, cramming for exams that would qualify him for college.

If it seemed at all odd when producer-director Alfred Hitchcock cast German actress Karen Verne to play a Danish maid in Universal's Paul Newman-Julie Andrews starer, Torn Curtain, the master of suspense balanced things by casting Danish actress Gertrud as a German airline stewardess.

Some Feel That Emmy Awards Not Fair To Daytime Shows

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Are the Emmy Awards, to be given Sunday night, unfair to daytime television?

"There's not much question about it," says Tom Kennedy, emcee of NBC's daytime game show, You Don't Say! "Not one daytime, five-day-a-week audience participation show or continuing drama was nominated."

"You can't ignore a segment of the television industry—we're very much part of it. I find it hard to believe you're only talented after 5 p.m.," says Art Linkletter, whose daytime House Party won an Emmy in 1954. "I don't think daytime emcees and shows get a fair share of recognition, considering the amount of time devoted."

Coleen Gray of Days Of Our Lives: "The time of day that an actress or actor performs certainly has nothing to do with the proficiency of his work."

The statuettes to be handed out by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences are in 23 categories "for program excellence and achievement" and 12 "craft and programming areas." Daytime's lone nod is an area headed "program and individual achievements in daytime programming," with three nominations: A Tribute To Stevenson, Camera Three and Wild Kingdom.

WANTS RECOGNITION
Says Macdonald Carey, Miss Gray's co-star: "If the academy is truly interested in improving the quality of television, recognition of the daytime show would seem in order."

Monty Hall, host of daylight's Let's Make A Deal: "... The name of the Emmy categories game has to be spelled 'ridiculous'."

Even the president of the television academy's Hollywood chapter, producer John Guedel, agrees in part:

"It's very unfair—unbalanced is the word. Two-thirds of the people and time in television are daytime. When they have one category, that's bad balance. This is the one beef I've had with the rest of the trustees."

"It's a problem, however, because daytime turns out five times as much product as nighttime. We are rewarding programs on the basis of quality alone. But I contend there are advances and worthwhile contributions in the daytime."

Says Miss Gray:

"In taping a half-hour daytime so-called soap opera an actor does in nine hours what another actor takes three days to do in a half-hour filmed drama. You have to be a pro to do the half-hour soaps, and these daytimers separate the men from the boys. I've also done a number of the quality nighttime live shows . . ."

"It's interesting to imagine what chance a nighttime show would have for a nomination if it were shown in the daytime and weekday instead of in the prime time."

Sort Of A Double Billing Down In Vegas For Sinatra

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In his letters, marquess of two Las Vegas, Nev., resort hotels had a male apart seemingly suited the same attraction "Frank Sinatra."

But in small letters "Junior" appeared under one and "Senior" under the other.

At 4 a.m. Sinatra Jr.'s telephone rang.

"So it's 'Senior' now is it?" growled his famous father. "Look, kid. I don't like being 'Senior'."

Frank Sr. was kidding, of course. The fact that he has attended 10 of his son's performances in several cities suggested a father proud of a son following a remarkably similar career.

The respect is mutual. Says Junior: "Without question he is the man of the era. He set the style."

Young Sinatra is 25, his father 54. They have the same walk, the same square shoulders, the same slender build and tough, articulate manner of speaking.

Swarthy, with dark brown eyes and hair, Junior vaguely suggests his father's looks and, of course, voice.

"The critics said in the beginning I was a blatant copy of my father," the son said the other day. "Now they sometimes notice only a vague similarity. And that I have my own musical personality which has taken time to perfect."

YOU'RE WITH BAND

Young Sinatra is back at his West Los Angeles apartment after three years' touring with the band with which his father sang in 1939-41. The late Tommy Dorsey's band, led by Sam Donahue, still carried the Dorsey name.

But the band now has been dissolved and, with Donahue and seven other members, Sinatra Jr. plans to work up a smaller, less expensive act and hit the club circuit again.

Frank Jr. was born in Jersey City, N.J., and reared in Los Angeles with his sisters Nancy, now 29 and a hit-record singer herself, and Tina, 18. He dropped out of school to be a singer like his father.

One night at Disneyland he asked the orchestra leader to let him do a vocal. Young Frank didn't identify himself, but the leader recognized the show. Locally televised, and Sinatra Jr. a backing on the Jack Benny television show. That led to the Dorsey booking, for which Frank quit three years' music study at the University of Southern California and Arizona State College.

C.A.B. To Use Stepping Stone

VICTORIA (CP)—Jean Pouliot, president of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, said Friday his group will use its expired six-year agreement with the Dominion Drama Festival as a stepping stone for new and expanded contributions to Canadian theatre.

Mr. Pouliot, in an address following the DDF annual meeting here, said the C.A.B. now will increase its support to regional drama groups.

The C.A.B., under an arrangement made in 1960, has been the major sponsor of the Dominion Drama Festival. The agreement expired March 31 and has not been renewed.

Mr. Pouliot said financial support to the DDF totalled $124,000 and "the publicity and promotion C.A.B. members have provided... amounted to more than $1,000,000 a year."

Following Mr. Pouliot's address, two C.A.B. members—CPTV of Montreal and CHAN-CKEK TV of Vancouver and Victoria—presented a closed-circuit television showing of the stations' pioneer efforts in producing amateur theatre for TV.

REVIVED LOCAL THEATRE

Sam Pitt, program director for the Montreal station, said their presentation of a competitive TV festival, using "competent local amateur theatrical groups," led to a "renaissance of community theatre in Montreal."

Ray Peters of British Columbia Television, Ltd., said his stations followed the Montreal lead and called in two "well-known public figures as adjudicators, a distinguished host, and used original plays for all the scripts."

Adjudicators were Les Wedman, television critic of the Vancouver Sun and Malcolm Black, artistic director of the Playhouse Theatre Company in Vancouver.

A former Vancouver International Festival director, David Cotton, served as host.

"We feel the series succeeded in achieving its purpose, and that much of value has been learned from it by all concerned," Mr. Peters said.

He said the series will be continued in future.

NIMBLE Fingers

by Frances Hatfield

Those of us who treasure the beauty and utility of Indian baskets are delighted to learn that the Canadian Handcraft Shop in the lobby of Mountain Shadows Motel has re-opened Saturdays 10-4:30 and has presently a notable collection of Indian baskets. These pieces are all over 50 years of age and came from a private collection of the motel. Needless to add that they are no longer being made by the tribe.

A map of the aboriginal population of Canada, contained in the book Indians of Canada by D. Jenness describes the Indian area as extending up the mainland coast and Vancouver Island half the distance of the island and spanning inland to cover a large area of the interior, including the Okanagan, Fraser and Thompson Rivers and part of the present day Kootenay area.

The book mentions the hand-crafted baskets of the Salish, with imbricated patterns of black, pale yellow and red. This collection includes just such forms of decoration. The quality of workmanship and good design to the examples is worth careful study and the signs of use in the baskets stir the mind to wondering about the craftsmen and the uses to which the original owners put the wares.

Turning from ancient time to the present, we find a contemporary carver of the Kootenay tribe has designed a series of birds and animals and that the motifs of Haida, Tsimshian and Tlingit peoples have been the source of design for attractive ceramic pieces. So their strong art forms speak out louder than ever today.

Jenness writes "The newly awakened interest in the hand-crafts of primitive peoples has directed considerable attention to this coast, partly because of the high quality of the carving and painting, still more, perhaps, because of its beauty and originality."

"While it is quite common to find a high conventionalization of realistic art in different parts of the world, these conventionalizations have nowhere taken exactly the same form, or developed the same style, as amongst the Indians of British Columbia."

"It was a style that originated long before any Europeans touched these shores, for we can discern it on the stone mortars and whale-bone clubs that have been recovered from prehistoric shell-heaps."

"The modern artists of the Pacific coast have but carried on the ancient tradition and applied it a little more widely. They look upon their figures with the eyes of the anatomist, dissect them as it were and rearrange the parts to suit the shape of the object that they are decorating."

Soviet Cuts Costs At Expo 67 Site

OTTAWA (CP)—The Soviet Union apparently has decided to cut its costs at Expo 67. According to its magazine Soviet Union Today, published by the Ottawa embassy, construction costs for its pavilion at the fair will be about $8,000,000 with the total bill running to about $9,000,000. This is about half the cost announced in January by Ilya Shperko, Russian ambassador to Canada.

Film Depicts British Life If Nazis Had Conquered

LONDON (CP)—"We shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender."

Thus Winston Churchill in June, 1940, braced the British people to the fearful possibility of invasion by Hitler's armies, pointed a mere 20 miles from the English coast. Invasion didn't come—but what if it had?

Would Britons have fulfilled his brave boast? Or would thousands have resigned themselves to Nazi occupation, collaborated and helped turn Britain into a Nazi satellite complete with Jewish ghettos, fascist rallies and extermination centres?

It happened here, a shocking $25,000 movie causing excited comment among London's film critics, shows with a creepy air of authenticity what Britain under the jackboot might have become.

The film—which incidentally doesn't mention Churchill—was eight years in the making by two young enthusiasts, Kevin Brownlow and Andrew Lothe. They were only 18 and 14 when they first got the idea. Some sequences were shot with a 16-mm camera. But no detail was spared to capture the atmosphere of wartime Britain, and skilful use of amateur actors adds to the chilling illusion.

PART CUT OUT

No sooner was the movie first shown at the London Film Festival of 1964 than a storm of controversy burst around it. Hailed by the critics, it was dropped like a hot potato by nervous distributors who feared the anti-Semitic speeches spouted in some scenes by British Nazis—not actors but actual members of Colin Jordan's fascist fringe group—might have the wrong effect on audiences.

Jewish groups in Europe and the United States also protested and eventually the movie-makers cut the main offending sequence. Now the film is on view to the public — "frightening," "provocative" and a "thoughtful, fearful speculation," in the words of a representative sample of London reviews.

The action of the film takes place in 1944—four years after the supposed invasion. The early resistance groups have been mopped up, except for sporadic guerrilla activity in Wiltshire.

The mass of ordinary Britons, personified by a decent, middle-aged nurse, seem to find co-operating with the conspirators is the best way to "get things back to normal," to restore "law and order."

Many became active fascists—pretty bureaucrats seeking with authority, contemptuous of the weak, the disorganized, the rebels who won't be pushed around. Others, like the nurse, join the local Nazi organization as to carry on with their jobs, finding out too late that they cannot remain detached.

Meanwhile German troops strut through Parliament Square, eagle girls on the Thames embankment, round up a group of Wiltshire villagers and machine-gun them in a calm English meadow.

BRIGHT DELETIONS

A timbered mansion at the end of a country lane, ostensibly a peaceful nursing-home, turns out to be an extermination centre for Russians and Poles.

The critics call the film a powerful piece of anti-Fascist propaganda and generally deplore the cuts that have been made — and the reasons why they were made.

"It is obvious the British Nazis are condemning themselves out of their own mouths, and one would have thought a majority of British audiences would not only recognize this but be shocked and disturbed that such outrageous views still exist," writes Ann Pacey in The Sun.

Alexander Walker in the Evening Standard says the pressure groups that forced the cuts "gravely misjudged the film and the good sense of ordinary filmgoers."

Felix Barker of the Evening News regrets that "in a film attacking ideological compromise of any sort should have been made."

The Financial Times critic, who calls the film "devishly convincing," and says after seeing it "one could almost swear that it all really had happened," does concede, however, that there is a danger of literally-minded audiences taking the Nazi speeches at their face value.

MOVIE highlights

Romance, drama, and comedy in the film here for moviegoers, at the Paramount Theatre and west.

The Kalamazoo Drive-In Theatre will offer a Second World War drama, and a double bill of adult entertainment only.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 26, 27 and June 1, The Money Trap will run at the Paramount at 7 and 9 p.m.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 2 to 4 and the following week to June 5, The Great Race will be shown at 8 p.m. and at the Saturday matinee at 2 p.m.

At the Drive-In, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, May 26, 27, 28, 29, June 1, The Great Race will be shown at 8 p.m.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 1 to 3, The Stripper is double-billed with The Pleasure Seekers.

The Money Trap stars Glenn Ford, Elinor Barlow, Rita Hayworth, Ricardo Montalban and Joseph Cotton.

It's a story that could happen and probably has happened more than once in real life—that of a man driven to a crime because of his wife's extravagance. In this instance, the situation is even more tautly dramatic and ironic because the man, Joe Baron (Ford), is a homicide detective whose free-spending wife, Lisa (Barlow), puts him in a deperate spot after he has exhausted all means of borrowing money.

A detective assignment involving a mysterious Dr. Van Tilden (Cotton), who is the head of a dope syndicate, gives Baron his opportunity for getting the money he so badly needs when he learns that the doctor's safe contains a million dollars in cash. Baron's partner, Pete Dobson (Montalban), wants "in" on the deal and together they are able to "blow" the safe, in which they find not only the million dollars but a large quantity of heroin.

The Great Race shows the fastest automobile marathon ever conceived—New York to Paris, via Siberia, in 1936. Starring are Tony Curtis as the hero, Louis Gallant III; Jack Lemmon as the villain, professor Fate; and Leslie Nielsen and Sherry Finkbeiner as the competing cars. Natalie Wood is the heroine, Maggie Dubois, a newspapering outgroup, determined to become a newspaper reporter. This is the story of the people who made the trip and the wonderful things that happened enroute.

None But The Brave stars Frank Sinatra, Clint Walker, Tommy Sands, Brad Dexter, Tony Bill, Sammy Jackson and two Japanese performers: Tetsuya Minami and Tetsuchi Kato.

The story tells how bitter enemies reach an uneasy truce when each side understands that the other means to survive, and that each needs the other in order to survive. The truce is to last until either group is brought back into World War II. When this happens to the Americans, the Japanese die rather than surrender to those with whom they have shared food, water, medicine and an island.

The Stripper has Joanne Woodward in the title role in a story of a small town girl who wins a beauty contest and goes to Hollywood to win fame. She fails to make a go of it and is always on the lookout for a solid man to lean on. Gypsy Rose Lee is cast as Madame Olga, a member of the same vaudeville troupe as Lila (Joanne).

The Pleasure Seekers is the story of three American girls who live in Madrid. Each has her own preconceived notions about love, and these undergo a radical change as each girl has the romance of her life. The romantic lineup goes like this: Ann-Margret, a singer-dancer living and working in Madrid, falls in love with Andre Lawrence, a poor but proud Spanish Doctor. Tony Franciosa, a cynical Spanish nobleman captures the heart of Pamela Tiffin, an art student vacationing in Madrid. And Carol Lynley, secretary in an American news agency, falls in love with Gardner McKay, a journalist employed by Brian Keith, husband of Gene Tierney and clandestine lover of Miss Lynley.

Rock Shows An Interest About Customs At Cannes

CANNES, France (AP)—Having witnessed the tribal customs of the American film community, I felt obliged during an European visit to observe the ritual of the international film festival.

The biggest and most prestigious of the festivals is the one at Cannes. Since it fell within the scope of my itinerary, I dropped in on one day's events of the festival's 26th year.

And where were all the starlets in bikinis, or less? That traditional element of the film festival was lacking. In its place was a fully-stocked Rock Hudson.

The occasion was a showing of Rock's new Paramount picture, Seconds, and he had interrupted a motor tour through Europe to attend the festival. He enjoys such functions about as much as he likes to fill out his income tax. But he is willing to give his ill-fated old Paramount (the also came part of the picture), and he arrived at the film airport smiling.

Rock also is interested in local customs, and he was studying them until 4 a.m. on his first night in Cannes, the field of study being a museum called the whiskey a go-go.

"It's a disco-something," he explained later, adding that he has never been able to pronounce discotheque.

GREETED BY SOPHIA

His festival baptism came at a luncheon staged in his honor at Eden Roc, the swank resort at Cap d'Antibes. There he was greeted by 200 reporters of many nations and by Sophia Loren, who was president of the jury committee and takes her duties seriously.

Proof that there will always be a press agent: The Paramount boys had changed all the road signs to read Eden Roc, in recognition of their star.

Seconds was shown that night at the festival palace. Under festival rules, Seconds featured subtitles in French.

Even the title of the film was translated to L'Operation Diabolique. The dialogue may have suffered in translation, such a line as "you dirty old man" coming out "quelle vieux sa-tyr."

The plot was indeed diabolical, concerning a devilish organization that sells people a chance for a second life with an entirely different identity.

Directed in stark style by John Frankenheimer, Seconds seemed like new-wave Hollywood. But members of the audience found the film slow and over-weighted, and there were intermittent whistles of discontent. But the audience obviously liked Rock, personally and professionally, and he was greeted with warm applause as he departed.

Seconds was snubbed by Miss Loren and her fellow judges when the prizes were handed out.

Top Prize Shared At Cannes Festival

CANNES, France (Reuters)—The top prize of the Cannes Film Festival was jointly awarded Friday to France's Un Homme et une Femme and Italy's Signore e Signori. Vanessa Redgrave, daughter of actor Sir Michael Redgrave, won the best actress award. Sweden's Per Oscarsson was the best actor.

I'M NO SYMBOL SAYS SOPHIA

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Sophia Loren said Tuesday she thinks of herself not as a sex symbol but as "a very simple Neapolitan girl."

Miss Loren, with her husband, Carlo Ponti, flew in to attend a dinner tonight at the Museum of Modern Art, where an exhibition of photographs of Miss Loren is showing.

When a reporter suggested that she might be an unusually pretty Neapolitan girl, she replied:

"Thank you. But maybe you have never been in Naples."

SING FOR DORSEY

Ken Curtis, Festus Haggen on TV's Gunsmoke, replaced Frank Sinatra as Tommy Dorsey's vocalist in the 1960s.

PIANISSIMO STRIP-TEASE

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters)—With a flourish, concert pianist Alfred Brendel completed the stirring closing passage of Mozart's Piano Concerto in C Major, and rose to take his bow.

But he couldn't stand. His coat tails were caught in the piano stool.

Watched by the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra, British conductor Sir Malcolm Sargent and a packed concert audience Monday night, he wrenched and pulled and tugged, but the tails held fast.

So with another flourish the pianist slipped out of his coat and took his bow in his starched white shirt front.

The audience applauded both performances.

How Did They Give An Oscar To Sound Of Music? - Omar

PARIS (AP) — "How could they do that—give the Oscar to The Sound of Music?" Omar Sharif wanted to know.

The Egyptian actor played the title role in Doctor Zhivago, which lost the Academy Award race to the musical. But he claimed there was no sour-grape attitude in his reaction.

"The Oscar should have gone to Doctor Zhivago or The Spy who came in from the Cold or any other film that had artistic merit," he said. "But not to a purely popular concoction."

Surprisingly, Sharif concurred with the academy's failure to nominate him as best actor, although Doctor Zhivago received a flock of other nominations.

"It would have been a gross injustice, because the role was too passive," he said.

PAY IS LOW

Sharif, who was nominated as best supporting actor for Lawrence of Arabia, doesn't fret about such things as awards. He is too busy pursuing his career as one of the most popular, if lowest paid, stars of the international film market.

Lowest paid? "That's right," he said. "I'm still operating under the contract I signed for Lawrence of Arabia. Yes, I could no doubt hold out for better terms. But I signed a contract, and that is that. I will live by it."

He mentioned that he is earning $30,000 for his current film, The Night of the Generals, in which he plays an anti-Nazi officer. He probably could demand 10 times that amount for such a prestigious film as a free lancer.

"I made $14,000 for 18 weeks' work in Genghis Khan," he said with a trace of bitterness. "I don't mind making films like Night of the Generals and Doctor Zhivago for little money."

Critics Protest Vulgarly Prize

CANNES (Reuters) — French critics attending the Cannes film festival have protested against official awards this year by creating a "vulgarity prize" — and giving it to the festival jury.

Objects of the protest were the Italian entry Signore e Signora (Ladies and Gentlemen) which shared the top award and the British Alfie, which won a special jury prize.

The vulgarity prize went to the jury, the journalists said, for "choosing among others the two coarsest films in the competition."

Signore e Signora, which shared the award with the French entry Un Homme et une Femme (A Man and a Woman) tells of romantic life in a small Italian town. Alfie is about a woman-seeking Londoner.

Congratulations to the University Women's Club and the Kelowna Art Exhibit Society. Their current efforts to revive The Community Arts Council of Kelowna is stirring up real interest. To date no less than 13 organizations have indicated keen interest in becoming a force in the revitalized council. The organizational meeting scheduled for June 6 is for those who, either as individuals or as representative of groups can attend and lend weight to the revival.

We had hoped to finalize arrangements for an in-depth panel discussion to be aired on CJOV-FM's "FM Matinee" before this column was completed. Suffice to say, we plan to project the opinions of four panelists on a special half hour program June 2 at 2:30 p.m. Four people representing various aspects of the community arts will be together for a discussion of the subject, "Why does Kelowna need an arts council?" Arrangements for this program are now being completed. It is hoped to re-broadcast this discussion again on Sunday evening at 8 p.m., June 5 on CJOV-FM.

Focus on Symphony Hall for the ensuing week falls on the following composers and the orchestras and artists performing their works: Friday, May 27: The Two Piano Team of Vronsky and Babia will perform Fantasy Op. 5 (Suite No. 1) by Rachmaninoff which will include Barcarole, A Night For Love, Tears, and Russian Easter. Then the great Russian composers Suite No. 2 Op. 17 featuring Introduction, Waltz, Romance and Tarentelle. On the same program (this evening), will be The Art Of Fritz Kreisler. Beautiful selections on the violin as only Kreisler could perform them will be heard. That's at 9 till 10 p.m. Tomorrow evening, Symphony Hall will be in its regular Saturday night slot of 7 to 8 p.m. You'll hear Ferde Grofe's World Fair Suite performed by the World's Fair Orchestra under Paul Lavallee. Featured also will be Offenbach's Gaite Parisienne Suite.

BEST SELLERS

Apparently, there is an international classical hit parade or best seller list that has quite an influence among LP followers of releases from the serious realm of music. Currently number one is The Ives Symphony by the Orchestra of Leopold Stokowski.

This will be featured Monday evening on Symphony Hall at the week-night time of 8 p.m. Tuesday evening, will be Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra playing Wagner's Prelude and Love and Death from Tristan and Isolde — Tchaikovsky's Romeo and Juliet overture—Debussy's Prelude To The Afternoon Of A Faun and Ravel's La Valse.

On Wednesday evening replacing Symphony Hall will be the monthly special Gilbert and Sullivan offering. The entire performance of Yeomen Of The Guard will be sung by the Glyndebourne Festival Chorus. Sir Malcolm Sargent directs the chorus and the Pro-Arte Orchestra for this always charming and popular G & S Favorite.

Thursday evening at 9, Symphony Hall presents the renowned piano virtuoso, Loria Hollander with Moussorgsky's Pictures At An Exhibition. (Apparently also on the current best seller list.) . . . He'll also perform Rachmaninoff's Prelude in C Sharp Minor and Prokofiev's Toccata.

INTERVIEW STARS

The special shows, Strings And Things, Comedy Star Time and FM Theatre will be specially interesting for the ensuing week. Sunday evening on 5 & 7 you'll enjoy the usual music, but especially Sir Lawrence Olivier's album Olivier—this will feature his finest Hamlet and Henry V dialogues. Also featured will be the modern poet, Langston Hughes. His own readings with jazz accompaniment make for a stirring experience. An interesting swing from Shakespeare to beat poetry assures you good listening this Sunday on 5 & 7 from 8 to 10 p.m.

Comedy Star Time Tuesday, (at 4 to 5 p.m. and 10 to 11 p.m.) will give you the one and only Don Adams Roving Reporter. This is probably the funniest album of comedy we have offered in weeks. Then there's those Smother Brothers to top things off.

FM Theatre will be guesting Natalie Wood, Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon, stars of The Great Race which opens at the Paramount Theatre June 2, the same day as the FM broadcast. Mike Cleaver, FM Theatre's producer will actually interview the three stars through electronic methods provided by Warner Brothers, the producers. He'll also feature the actual music sound track on the program. You can hear this at one or both times—4 to 5 p.m. and 10 to 11 p.m. Thursday, June 2.

Good luck to the upcoming BCD Festival of One Act Plays, June 1 to 4.

THIS PRODUCER HAD PROBLEMS

BELMONT, Mass. (AP)—Joe Longo, setting out to publicize a movie, The Russians are Coming, used some red paint to daub the title of the movie on the sidewalk.

He chose a spot in front of the headquarters of the John Birch Society, the militant anti-Communist organization.

Longo counted on getting some publicity. He didn't count on getting arrested and charged with malicious damage to property.

Longo pleaded no contest to the charge Tuesday and the judge placed the case on file.

Like A Scene For Movies

BALTIMORE (AP)—As in a scene from a 1938 movie, a truck is squashed down by police on an isolated highway and contraband worth thousands of dollars is confiscated.

But the scene is far from entertaining to Maryland and New York tax authorities, who say a booming multimillion-dollar business in untaxed, smuggled cigarettes bound for New York black markets has caused major revenue losses.

Edward F. Englebert, head of Maryland's sales tax division, says running brotling cigarettes, purchased for $1.85 a carton in North Carolina, has been turned into a "mammoth operation to rival the old days of Al Capone."

He says the tough types who drove the truck in the films have been recaptured by mid-manned services — including women — who apparently have been assured that Maryland's misdemeanor law aimed at combatting such traffic is not stringent. For example the first man convicted received a suspended sentence and a fine.

It began when New York raised cigarette prices to 45 cents a pack, much more than the price in North Carolina.

There is no cigarette tax in North Carolina.

Since last summer, Maryland state police and tax authorities have confiscated more than 50,000 cartons of cigarettes, being hauled in everything from the largest tractor vans to private cars. They estimate that this represents only a small percentage of total traffic.

North Carolina has no law to prevent such interstate traffic because there is no state cigarette tax.

Conviction under present Maryland law could mean a fine of $25 for each carton and up to five years' imprisonment for maximum sentence.

TORME WEDS

American singer Mel Torme and British actress Janette Scott stand in front of a Shinto Shrine after being married at U.S. and British embassies in Tokyo. Torme said, "We just thought it's romantic to get married in Tokyo." The pair is on a tour of Japan, Formosa and Okinawa, entertaining U.S. servicemen. It was the third marriage for Torme, 40, and the second for Miss Scott, 27.

Bachelorhood Fine, Until . . .

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Bachelorhood was wonderful when I didn't know Burt," says one of Hollywood's lovelier former bachelor girls, Angie Dickinson.

Burt is Burt Bacharach, composer of Wives and Lovers, What the World Needs Now and the Oscar nominee What's New, Pussycat? The two celebrated their first wedding anniversary May 13.

Angie's dates used to include director Richard Brooks ("bright, tough, strong") and Frank Sinatra ("terribly thoughtful, confident, not trying to prove anything"). What about the celebrated Hollywood wolver?

"It depends on what you're looking for. I didn't like to go out."

And when invited as an extra girl to somebody's dinner party, said Angie: "I always drove my own car so I didn't have to take pot luck."

They All Sing Tiki-Tiki-Ti

HAVANA (Reuters) — Luscious young models on the beach are doing it, buxom militia girls in slacks are doing it, even sugar cane cutters in the fields are doing it. It is the tiki-tiki-ti.

Wherever you go in Cuba today, on street corners and sandy shores, in Havana's buses and darkened night clubs, in the farthest corners of the republic, everybody is humming tiki-tiki-ti, the ubiquitous theme of the dengue, the latest dance to sweep the country.

Composed by Perez Prado, Cuban-born but Mexico-based father of the mambo, the dengue first invaded Cuba toward the end of last year but did not achieve real popularity until Havana's carnival in March.

One Thing Darryl Zanuck Feared Was Meeting Stockholders

PARIS (AP)—Darryl F. Zanuck, a man regarded as fearless, faced the one ordeal he disliked—the annual stockholders' meeting.

As president of 20th Century-Fox, he presided at the New York meeting. Even though he had good news for the stockholders, he anticipated the usual trouble-makers.

"There's always someone who wants to know why we didn't pay more dividends or why we are paying so much money to this star or that," he sighed. "I just have to face it."

The Hollywood studio is run by his son, Richard Zanuck.

A large part of the good tidings for stockholders could be attributed to The Sound of Music, which has brought the sound of money to the company that was almost sunk by Cleopatra.

IS SURPRISED

"I knew we had great entertainment in The Sound of Music, but I never dreamt that it would be such a moneymaker," said Zanuck. "The thing is bringing in $1,000,000 a week in film rentals—not just grosses, but rentals!"

"It has already been in release 38 weeks. It has played in only 187 theatres in America, and it's still playing in 185 of them. Look at this."

He produced some projection sheets that indicated the musical would gross at least $65,000,000, making it the biggest moneymaker of all time. Zanuck's own estimate is $80,000,000. Total so far: $47,000,000.

The Zanucks are hoping to mine the same kind of gold from three other musicals that Fox will make in the next 12 months. They are: Dr. Doolittle, starring Rex Harrison, Samantha Eggar, Sidney Poitier and Anthony Newley; Star, the biography of Gertrude Lawrence starring Julie Andrews; and Hello, Dolly.

NO CAST CHOSEN YET

The latter has not yet been cast.

Zanuck, who once controlled 20th Century-Fox from a cavernous office on the Westwood lot, now finds himself in a global operation. He was receiving reports on the shooting of Batman in California, Two for The Road (Audrey Hepburn-Albert Finney) on the Riviera, and The Sand Pebbles in Hong Kong.

"We've had troubles with Sand Pebbles, he muttered. "The company hit 28 days of rain in Formosa during one month. They had four different calls for shooting every day, according to what the weather was. Some involved a thousand extras. It was murder."

David McCallum Now In Repose After Long Days On Movie Set

PORTOFINO, Italy (AP)—David McCallum was experiencing a rare moment of repose over dinner at an open-air restaurant in this Mediterranean village.

"I have never been more tired in my life than I am at this very moment," he said.

He had just finished a long day's shooting on his new movie, Three Holes of the Apple. It is a spy chase which has had him racing over Italian scenery from here to Venice to the Alps.

But it seemed to be not merely physical fatigue that was affecting him. He is pursued everywhere by his alter ego, Ilya Kuryakin, television's U.N.C.L.E. agent, and isn't sure how to cope with the clamorous following he has attracted.

"After my last appearance at Macy's in New York, I decided

I would do no more personal appearances in America," he said.

"Such things simply can't be controlled any more. Why should I continue to run the risk of seeing people maimed and injured, including me?"

Then he went to England two months ago. His reception: "A hundred times worse than Macy's!"

As soon as McCallum finishes the film, he returns immediately to MGM in Hollywood to commence 10 months of shooting U.N.C.L.E. He said he seriously considered quitting.

He finally decided to return to portraying Ilya. But, he added, "I have decided that all outside activities must be eliminated—it is a matter of survival."
